M&S is to open food store in Cannock

MARKS & SPENCER is bringing its upmarket food store brand Simply Food to Cannock.

The firm is moving into the Orbital shopping centre, off the A5, into premises formerly occupied by Comet.

Council leader George Adamson hailed the company's impending arrival as 'great news.' He said: "You know you've made it when M&S comes to town."

It is hoped the store will be open by April next year. Simply Food will share the site with shops such as Sainsbury's, Boots, Argos, Homebase and Harvey's furniture store.

M&S food sales are currently outperforming the big traditional supermarkets. Like-for-like sales have risen lately, helped by a stream of new product launches including ready meals and frozen foods.

The retailer has now upped its expansion plans to 200 stand-alone Simply Food stores.

Councillor Adamson added: "The old Comet building was a fair-sized store so it should be selling a good number of lines."

The news was also welcomed by town centre regeneration chief Councillor Diane Todd.

She said: "It's a move in the right direction. "We want these bigger names coming in."

MBE award for Stephen

STEPHEN Sutton's mother Jane has collected his posthumous MBE for the teenager's charity work.

The Burntwood 19-year-old accepted the honour before his death on May 14.

The teenager, diagnosed with bowel cancer at 15, became a household name as he helped raise £5million for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

His mother went to London to collect the honour from Buckingham Palace.

ACCIDENT GIRL'S FAMILY HIT OUT

By Katy-Rose Meaney

THE family of a 10-year-old hit by a car in Cannock are demanding road safety measures are installed, claiming that it was 'an accident waiting to happen'.

Sky Dowell was knocked over in Avon Road in front of National Tyres on Friday. The Longford Primary pupil was with her mother, 27-year-old Natasha Dowell, and her four-year-old brother at the time.

Miss Dowell, from Harrison Road, Cannock, said: "We were walking back from school and stopped at the island. A lady stopped to let us cross, when a car squeezed past from behind her car and hit Sky. She was just one step ahead of me."

Sky with her mother Natasha Dowell

The car hit her right side and the impact threw Sky on the car bonnet before she landed on her left side on the tarmac. The accident happened at 3.40pm.

Sky was carrying her school PE kit, lunchbox and school bag on her right side, which cushioned the force of the car. She suffered minor injuries to her leg and hip.

Miss Dowell added: "Sky got straight up and started screaming hysterically for me. It happened so quickly and is a blur. A passer-by called 999 and other parents stopped to help." Sky was taken to New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton and is now recovering at home. The family are petitioning to have the 30mph road assessed and safety measures put in place.

Traffic

Her grandmother Patricia Carson, 47, has received more than 100 signatures and said: "We are just so thankful she is alive but something needs to be done about it, it was an accident waiting to happen."

Ward councillor Maureen Freeman said traffic in the area was 'awful' and the approach to the island was 'frightening'.

She added: "I am going to pass their concerns on to highways on their behalf."

Longford Primary School, in Ascot Drive, just off Avon road, is supporting the family's efforts. Headteacher Helen Hedar said: "We will be happy to work with the relevant authorities in any way necessary to consider any options available."

County Councillor Mark Deaville, cabinet support member for highways and transport, said: "This road has been assessed twice previously for a school crossing patrol and unfortunately didn't meet the criteria on both occasions."

"In light of the recent incident, we will be reassessing the route."

Staffordshire Police are investigating.

Crowds in moving tribute

Hundreds of people turned out at Cannock's cenotaph to remember the fallen. The centenary of the outbreak of the First World War was commemorated by thousands across Staffordshire in the largest Remembrance Sunday crowds for many years. ● More pictures - Page 4

Town gets ready for big lights switch-on

CANNOCK Traders Association will be holding its annual Christmas Lights Switch On event tomorrow.

Charity stalls and children's fairground rides will add to the festive atmosphere from 4pm until 8pm.

At 6pm, Santa will pose for photographs with shoppers before going to his grotto, courtesy of the Rotary Club, at the lower bandstand.

The DanceBitz Roadshow will provide musical entertainment.

At 7pm, a fireworks display will coincide with the lights being turned on.

Natal Chapman, centre manager of Cannock Shopping Centre, said: "It's certainly an event not to be missed." There will be no pedestrian access along Market Hall Street between 6.45 and 7.15pm.

● Rugeley's Countdown to Christmas event is being held this year on Friday, November 28. A street market with 40 stalls will be running in the town from 11am to 7pm, and there will also be fairground rides.

Santa will arrive via Upper Brook Street at 4.45pm and will be in his grotto from 5pm.

Local traders and residents Pat and Dave Hancock will switch on the lights at 6pm in Market Square. They will also lead the firework finale countdown.

Store opens at pub site

A new supermarket has opened in Rugeley on the site of an old pub, creating 20 jobs.

The Morrisons Local store in Green Lane replaced The Moderation, which had previously stood empty.

The shop was opened on Monday by Carl Watkiss, vice-chairman of the Rugeley branch of the Royal British Legion. It will be open from 7am to 11pm each day.

It is part of the firm's expansion of its chain of smaller stores.

Beauty students reach national final

FOUR South Staffordshire College beauty students are to represent their sector at The WorldSkills UK National Finals 2014.

The students, from the Cannock and Tamworth campuses, achieved outstanding results in the regional competition at Newcastle-under-Lyme in May.

Emily Slater from Cannock and Jade Aspley from Rugeley will be joined by Stevie Sherlock from Tamworth and Nicole Newman from Lichfield. Emily, Stevie and Nicole took the top three places at Intermediate Level in nail enhancements, nail art and beauty, while Jade claimed second place in nail enhancements.

By competing in Birmingham they could land places to represent Team UK in the International WorldSkills final at Sao Paulo in 2015.

Ex-student Charlotte Burford, now their beauty instructor, claimed a bronze in the World Final in Calgary.

Cut in hours at Minor Injuries Unit approved

A CONTROVERSIAL cut in the opening hours at Cannock's Minor Injuries Unit will come into force on December 1, despite the public being against the move.

Doctors on the cash-strapped Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group last week agreed to slash the hours of the unit in a bid to save £750,000.

During the meeting it was revealed that 71 per cent of those who replied to a consultation opposed a change to the opening hours.

The unit is currently open from 8am to midnight but the operating hours will change to between 10.30am and 6.30pm.

Initially health chiefs wanted to shut the unit but they changed their minds with revised plans to get GPs to run the service. Cannock Council leader George Adamson was among those who called for it to be saved. He told the meeting: "The decision is financially not medically driven. Let's be honest about it."

CCG Chairman Dr Johnny McMahon said: "To do nothing is not a financially viable option."

Treated

Officials were also told that the service is used by on average six patients per night between 7pm and midnight.

The CCG is overspending by £9 million a year. Health bosses say the unit can take up to 20,000 patients a year but it is attracting only 16,414.

Of those, 76 per cent are able to be treated by a doctor or have to be sent to away to another hospital.

Dr McMahon said: "The CCG has listened carefully to the debates held throughout the consultation process and we believe that many of the matters raised have been addressed."

"This is not the beginning of the end for the Minor Injuries Unit."

Oscar's spooky tale write on

A 12-YEAR-old boy showed he had the write stuff when he won a Halloween story competition.

Oscar Bhageerutty, of Wimblebury, was crowned the winner of Cannock Shopping Centre's Spooky Star Story contest – the latest in a series of 'Star' awards.

The Erasmus Darwin Academy pupil won a hamper of Halloween and writing goodies as well as an engraved trophy for his tale 'The Devil Child'.

He was presented with his prize on the day the shopping centre offered free painting at a Halloween fun day.

Shopping centre manager Natal Chapman said: "Our Halloween fun day was a great success and it was fantastic to see all of our little shoppers enjoying the free face painter."

"The events at the centre always prove to be very popular and we are already looking forward to the the Christmas lights switch-on and our Christmas walkabout characters."

College to lend hand at biggest skills show

South Staffordshire College is, for the third year running, one of the premier sponsors of The Skills Show, which takes place at the NEC in Birmingham, from today (Thursday) until Saturday (November15).

The college will be showcasing its range of vocational courses, including giving visitors the chance to gain first-hand experience of the practical skills required as a TV presenter.

It is also encouraging people to try their hand at practical tasks, giving them an insight into careers including motor vehicle technology and hair & beauty.

Chief executive principal Graham Morley said: "Helping students to become work-ready is at the heart of everything we do."

Tickets are free. For more details, and to register visit www.theskillsshow.com

Hundreds of health workers at awards

MORE than 300 local NHS staff were attending an awards ceremony in Staffordshire today.

The Positively Different Awards, held at the Staffordshire County Showground, are designed to recognise exceptional contributions to the health service, by individuals and teams, by clinical and non-clinical staff at South Staffordshire and Shropshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust.

More than 100 nominations were received for the 10 awards, and the best entries have now been short-listed.

South Staffordshire and Shropshire Healthcare provides mental health, learning disability and specialist children's services locally, but also psychological therapies; drug and alcohol services in prisons; and care for serving and veteran MoD personnel, across the country.

Neil Carr, chief executive, said: "We know that we cannot deliver effective services without well trained and supported staff and believe that offering real recognition in the form of this awards ceremony has a real part to play in creating an enthusiastic, committed and confident workforce."

Thousands admit drinking while pregnant

THOUSANDS of pregnant women in Staffordshire are drinking while expecting, new figures reveal.

Around 3,600 mothers-to-be across the county have admitted they have had a drink as a test case goes before the courts which could see it become illegal.

A council in the north west of England is seeking criminal injuries compensation for a six-year-old girl in care who has disabilities caused by her mother's alcohol consumption during pregnancy.

Lawyers for child who cannot be named, are asking three judges at the Court of Appeal to rule whether she is entitled to compensation as a victim of violent crime after being born with an alcohol-related disorder. If the appeal succeeds, it could pave the way for pregnant women's behaviour to be criminalised, according to the British Pregnancy Advisory Service and Birthrights.

Around 80 similar cases could be brought if the appeal is successful.

It comes as the Staffordshire director of public health revealed more than 24,000 children aged 10 to 15 in the county have had an alcoholic drink over the last year – and 8,600 have been drunk at least once. It has also shown that 200 adults in alcohol treatment are parents with childcare responsibilities.

Terrible

Cannock Council leader George Adamson said: "Children getting drunk as young as 10 is terrible. I think in a lot of cases the parents need to take responsibility. It has major effects on them in later life and can cause some serious health issues."

Staffordshire's director of public health, Dr Aliko Ahmed, said: "We are all more than familiar with the harmful impacts of alcohol misuse as we so often see – alcohol-fuelled violence, disruption on the streets in the night-time economy, increasing demand on emergency services, the impact on our health and the rates of long-term conditions such as liver disease."

Temporary health centre to stay another five years

BURNTWOOD residents who want a permanent health centre have been told that a temporary facility will stay for another five years.

In June this year, NHS bosses decided to pull the plug on a long-awaited new multi-million pound health centre earmarked for Burntwood due to budget pressures. Campaigners at the time described the announcement as a 'terrible blow.'

It has now emerged the temporary walk-in centre at Burntwood Leisure Centre has been granted permission to remain in the town until September 2019 – sparking fears that a permanent facility might never happen.

Chase Terrace councillor Sue Woodward said: "Our immediate concerns have been addressed. But the issue of the permanent centre is not going to disappear."

Work

"Our challenge is to continue to press the Government and the NHS to address Burntwood's health needs. We need a new centre." A petition was launched when NHS England announced that the new GP and nursing complex was not going to be built in Burntwood.

So far, 491 people have signed the document. Work on the complex should have got under way last year after plans were agreed in 2011. The centre was due to be built in the grounds of Burntwood Leisure Centre and would have served

Report by Laura Blyth

22,000 patients. It comes after St Matthews Hospital in Burntwood and Hammerwich Hospital have both closed in recent years.

Lichfield District Council agreed to extend the shelf life of the temporary centre.

In their decision they wrote: "This permission shall be for a limited period expiring on September 30, 2019 and at the end of this period, the building shall be removed from the site."

NHS England is carrying out a review of the health provision in Burntwood in light of the new centre not going ahead.

Rebecca Woods, head of primary care at NHS England, said: "NHS England in Shropshire and Staffordshire are working closely with Lichfield District Council to improve existing services for patients in the Burntwood area."

"This includes a review of GP premises that are affected by not proceeding with the scheme."

£2k for soldiers in need

A TIMELY gift of more than £2,000 to support soldiers in need in Staffordshire has been handed over.

Lichfield MP Michael Fabricant presented a cheque for £2,122 to members of the Mercian Regiment Benevolent Fund at the town's Bowling Green pub. The cash was raised at this year's Lichfield Rocks festival with help from the pub and Lichfield Health & Fitness Club. The MP said: "It is so welcome at this season of remembrance."

Starring in the film Get Santa is Combo the reindeer, from Blithbury Reindeer Lodge

Combo to take reins for festive film role

MOVE over Rudolph, one reindeer from near Rugeley is set to steal the spotlight this festive season.

Combo is to become a star of the big screen as he takes a leading role in British film Get Santa. The movie, released on December 5, will also star Warwick Davis.

Combo, based at Blithbury Reindeer Lodge, a 30-acre working farm, will play Santa's lead reindeer, Dasher. And he was joined on set by six of the 150-strong herd from the lodge, in Uttoxeter Road.

As part of filming, seven year-old Combo was required to run across Millennium Bridge and the other mischievous reindeer went shopping on Carnaby Street and walked through the centre of Harrogate in disguise.

The lodge also supplied the film crew with seven understudy reindeer, who were on standby as doubles.

Lodge owner Stephen Swinnerton said: "Although our herd have worked on film and TV programmes previously, this is the first time our reindeer have been used as characters in a film."

"We all loved working on Get Santa and are thrilled that our reindeer were able to help bring this magical story to life."

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

THANKS for your humorous epitaphs. The expression "never speak ill of the dead" is obviously a new one. A reader found a tombstone on which one grieving husband inscribed: "Arabella Young, who on 17th July 1781 began to hold her tongue."

ANOTHER reader tells of a headstone in Yorkshire where the first lines record the death of a husband and the next line the passing of his wife. Underneath, in a different script, someone added: "She was not a virtuous woman."

MY father, too, as a fully paid-up Yorkshireman, felt no obligation to speak well of the dead. When one of his acquaintances died the local paper approached him for a few words to include in the obituary. "You may quote me," my father replied, "as saying that Mr  was a complete * and the world is a much better place for his passing." Needless to say they didn't use it.

A POLL of Radio Times readers suggests the favourite movie line of all time is Buzz Lightyear's quote from Toy Story: "To infinity . . . and beyond!" The poll's top 10 - explicitly overlooked "May the Force be with you" from Stars Wars and "I love the smell of napalm in the morning" from Apocalypse Now. Strange poll, strange result. But then who reads the Radio Times these days?

WE all have our personal best movie lines. One of mine is from the ceilidh scene in Local Hero when Mac asks for a 42-year-old whisky and is told it's not available. "Well," he replies, "Give me four eight-year-olds and a ten-year-old." And there's a gem of a line at the end of Jungle Book when the man-cub Mowgli, having grown up with animals, is suddenly enchanted by his first sight of a little girl. Baloo the bear growls: "Forget about those. They ain't nothing but trouble."

GOD alone knows why Michael Fallon is our Secretary of State for Defence. He looks like a suburban grocer, his background is in stockbroking and private nurseries and he has never spent a day in uniform. Yet he is the man who has ordered British troops back into Iraq, to "train" Iraqi forces how to fight the Islamic State. Train them? Which bit of "Don't run away" do the Iraqis not understand? If they are not prepared to fight for their own country, why should British soldiers be sent to hold their hands? By rights, this Sunday should have been a day to rejoice, the first Remembrance Day for many years with no British "boots on the ground" in any foreign wars. Michael Fallon is changing all that. I fear events may teach him a terrible lesson.

A GOVERNMENT spokesman popped up on the radio this week to repeat one of the Great Whoppers of Our Time: "Crime has fallen by 10 per cent." No, it hasn't. It's just that thousands of criminals have abandoned the risky business of theft, fraud and mugging for the safe, warm, rewarding pastures of cyber crime. Crime on the internet is booming and most of it is ignored by the police, so it doesn't appear in any recorded-crime statistics. I have never been mugged in the street but at least once or twice a day someone tries to rob me via my computer. If you seriously think crime is falling, you really ought to be in politics.

WHY did the teenager Will Cornick murder his teacher? Because he is a psychopath. How do we know he is a psychopath? Because he murdered his teacher. Yet again a mental-health diagnosis in a murder case seems to be nothing more than being wise after the event.

Second World War veteran Ron Mattison from the Scottish Rifles

A veteran in a moment's reflection during the parade in Cannock

Poignant parade to remember the fallen

By Marion Brennan

THEY came in their hundreds. From the veterans who had seen war with their own eyes, to school-children learning about conflict for the first time.

Young and old stood shoulder to shoulder in poignant ceremonies to mark 100 years since the outbreak of the First World War.

Former soldier Ronald Mattison, president of the Royal British Legion in Cannock praised the reverence and regard shown by all.

The 88-year-old, who saw action with the Scottish Rifles in the Rhine Crossing in 1944, said: "It went very well. Even when the parade arrived early and there was a 10-minute wait before the service began, everyone kept a respectful hush. It was a wonderful and moving occasion."

Parade

One of the younger attendees was seven-year-old Ella Howard, who took part in the parade with the 5th Cannock Brownies. Sporting a felt poppy with a black-button centre which she made herself, she said: "It was good. We were thinking about all the soldiers who died 100 years ago."

Parade marshal Bob Leighton, of the Royal Engineers Association, read the well-known verse from the poem For The Fallen, starting "They shall not grow old" before a bugler sounded the Last Post and a two-minute silence was held.

Afterwards he said the service had been a 'fitting tribute' to those who had sacrificed their lives in the 1914-18 conflict.

Leader George Adamson represented Cannock Chase District Council at the Hedgesford ceremony which was followed by a service at St Peter's Church.

He said: "It was standing room only inside the church. It was particularly poignant to see so many people across the generations on this special anniversary.

Ella Howard, aged seven, from the 5th Cannock Brownies

A proud veteran watches from the crowd during service

"There were lots of scouts, too, so there were people there aged from nine, to ex-soldiers in their 90s, all in uniform."

Councillor Andy Lovell represented the authority at a service at St Augustine's Church in Rugeley which took place after the parade.

Large crowds also turned out in Stafford for the town's Remembrance Sunday commemorations. An open air service and wreath-laying ceremonies were held at the town's two war memorials.

This was followed by a military parade through the town centre, starting and ending in Earl Street, taking in Water Street, Mill Bank, Greengate Street, Market Square, Gaolgate Street, Stafford Street, Chapel Street and Broad Street.

Soldiers from the 22 Signal Regiment have already run and cycled their way to raising £22,000 for the Poppy Appeal.

At each ceremony across the county, members of the public also laid wreaths and individual wooden crosses in tribute to family members who had given their lives in the service of their country.

Some 5,000 people marked Remembrance Sunday at the National Memorial Arboretum in Alrewas, Staffordshire. Organisers said the crowds were the biggest for the annual service since it opened in May 2001. The outdoor service began with a two-minute silence at 11am.

The congregation then laid wreaths at the Armed Forces Memorial, which is a tribute to the 16,000 servicemen and women who have died since 1948.

Bridgtown held its annual remembrance parade and service a week earlier on Sunday, November 2.

Baby change area facelift

A SUPERMARKET has invested £50,000 in the baby change area at its Cannock store.

The area, at Morrisons in Mill Street, has been totally redesigned to an open plan format, allowing for larger prams and buggies.

Bosses hope it will create a more comfortable environment. The customer toilets have also undergone a refurbishment.

General store manager Matt Garrett said: "We expect it will result in an easier and more pleasant shop for everyone who visits our store."

Spotlight is to land on history of village

LIFE in a Staffordshire village from the First World War to the 1930s will come under the spotlight at an event this weekend.

Great Wyrley Local History Society is holding an events day at Harrison's Sports and Social Club, in Wharwell Lane, on Saturday between 11am and 4pm.

Taking a look back at the village over the last 100 years, there will be items and memorabilia from an Elizabethan farm building built in the 1530s, which is now being renovated.

The objects have been donated by the present owner Tom Park. The Great War theme runs alongside a separate extensive commemoration to the men and others from the village who went to war.

Society chairman Gary Smith said: "Alongside this is a viewing of Great Wyrley burial records arranged and put together by Darren Butler in line with the Great War Project which the society is taking an active part in.

"The show has been put together by Brian Mills, who has meticulously followed the society and Great Wyrley branch of the Royal British Legion throughout the year," he added.

Line dance fun

A FUN day with lunch and line dancing will be held in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support tomorrow (Friday). It is being organised through the Chadsmoor Line Dancers at St Chad's Church, Cannock Road and takes place from 12.30-3.30pm. Admission is £3.

Labour on track to regain key seat, says poll

LABOUR is on course to win back key marginal seats from the Tories at the next General Election – including Cannock Chase – according to a poll.

Research by Lord Ashcroft in 12 Conservative-held constituencies found Ed Miliband's party is set to win nine of them.

Cannock Chase was a symbolic victory for the Tories in 2010 as the former Labour seat fell to the Conservatives with the biggest swing anywhere in the country.

But sitting MP Aidan Burley is standing down after just one term.

The Conservatives hope new candidate

Amanda Milling will retain the seat for them. Labour is fielding Cannock Chase councillor Janos Toth.

The study looked at seats where the MP had a majority of between 4.8 per cent and 7.1 per cent. It found the Tories would currently hang on in just three of them, namely Kingswood, Loughborough and Blackpool North and Cleveleys.

The results came after a previous round of polling suggested David Cameron's party would lose nine out of 11 seats where they had smaller majorities.

Lord Ashcroft said net Conservative losses and net Labour gains would have to total more than 46 for Mr Miliband to lead the largest party next May.

"Since my research so far has shown the Conservatives and Labour ahead in equal numbers of seats currently held by the Lib Dems, and Ukip ahead in two seats currently held by the Tories, the Conservatives can afford to lose no more than 21 seats to Labour if they are to remain the largest party," the peer said.

"My battleground polling has to date found them behind in 38 – albeit sometimes by very slim margins – and we have not yet reached the point at which the Tory losses end."

However, the Tory peer stressed that other factors, such as whether other Lib Dem seats were vulnerable, the ability of Ukip to make inroads elsewhere, and the surge in SNP support north of the border, could change the balance significantly.

The research also indicated a majority across the constituencies favoured Mr Cameron remaining as Prime Minister.

Some 30 per cent were satisfied with his performance, while another 29 per cent preferred him to Mr Miliband.

Campaigners celebrate caravan site plea refusal

A LANDOWNER has lost an appeal to turn a travelling showmen's base into a residential caravan site.

Opponents to the plan are celebrating a 'hard won' victory. The field off the A5 Watling Street in Great Wyrley was used as a seasonal base for fairground people to use for their mobile homes and to store lorries, trailers and children's rides.

A planning inquiry heard that local residents found their part-time neighbours 'quirky' and 'rather charming' but a row erupted when the site's new owner levelled the land and put down 15 concrete caravan stands.

Joseph Jenkins, who bought the land three years ago, also built roads and put in services before applying for retrospective planning permission for a permanent mobile home base.

Restore

The bid, on green belt land, was refused by South Staffordshire Council but Mr Jenkins has failed to reverse the move or comply with enforcement notices.

Instead he appealed to the Government's planning inspectorate, which has just announced its decision following a four-day public inquiry earlier this year.

Secretary of State Inspector Diane Lewis has given the owner three months to remove the concrete bases and restore the land to its grassed condition.

By Marion Brennan

Mr Matthew Horton, QC, on behalf of the local authority, called the application a 'try-on' and said it could be seen as the first step in an attempt to achieve a more permanent form of residence.

The owner has claimed there was 'no material change in the use of the land'.

Councillor Kath Perry, chairman of Great Wyrley Parish Council, said: "We are absolutely delighted.

"District councillors and local residents have fought long and hard for this decision.

"We had no issue with the showmen – you didn't know they were there – but then it changed. We are extremely pleased this matter has now been settled."

Comic star turn at show

BLACK Country comic Doug Parker is the headline act at a charity variety show later this month. BBC Radio WM's Jenny Wilkes is the guest emcee at the Prince of Wales Centre in Cannock for the fundraiser on Tuesday, November 25.

In aid of the Black Country branch of the MS Society, one of the Mayor of Walsall Councillor Pete Smith's nominated charities, it starts at 7.30pm. Vocalists Nick De Jarr and Nicole will also perform.

Tickets are £10.50 and available from the box office in Church Street on 01543 578762.

Veteran at forefront of Poppy Appeal

AN RAF veteran took centre stage as Sainsbury's marked its 20th year of supporting the Royal British Legion's poppy Appeal.

John Talbot, of Great Wyrley, headed the team of volunteers selling poppies at the Orbital Way store.

Mr Talbot is chairman of the Legion's Great Wyrley branch, for which he and wife Brenda have been volunteering for the past 10 years.

As well as fundraising, Mr Talbot visits schools to share his story and educate children about the world wars.

Last year, Mr Talbot and Sainsbury's volunteers raised in excess of £13,000, which contributed to a total fundraising figure of more than £4.5million. They were hoping to raise more this time around.

Mr Talbot said: "As an ex-RAF supplier, the good work carried out by The Royal British Legion is incredibly close to my heart. Remembering our fallen heroes and those who have fought for our country is of the utmost importance.

"I see it as my duty to fundraise and educate children about the conflict we've been part of, and about the work the Royal British Legion does."

Sainsbury's Cannock store manager Paul Davis said: "This year marks both Sainsbury's 20th anniversary of support and the First World War centenary, so our fingers are crossed for John and the team to raise more than ever."

Too many charity shops, says leader

CANNOCK Council leader George Adamson has admitted there are too many charity shops in the town.

It comes after Cannock town centre was rated 284th in a list of 500 towns for shopping the UK.

Councillor Adamson said: "We have 13 empty shops in Cannock town centre. There are too many charity shops in the town but I hope that when Mill Green designer village opens it will attract a greater variety of stores to the town too."

I think the outlet will have a really great effect on the town centre."

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

NAPOLÉON once dismissed Britain as 'a nation of shopkeepers. Well according to a rather new depressing survey into our towns and cities, the Black Country and its environs is now a region of bookies, pawnbrokers and kebab shops.

Now, I really would like to be angry about the study by retail analysts Harper Dennis Hobbs, which ranks Dudley the worst of Britain's 500 main shopping destinations, with Halesowen, Bilston and Rugeley faring only marginally better. However, it is surely only telling us what we already know. Indeed, judging from the public reaction to the study, the main bone of contention among people in this area is how Wolverhampton, which comes in at a middling 262nd place in the survey, is not down there with them.

Outraged civic leaders say the figures fail to take into account the many regeneration schemes lined up for their areas. But aside from the proposed new Debenhams store at the Mander Centre, which will hopefully give Wolverhampton a boost, what else is in the pipeline to turn around these towns which persistently punch below their weight? Is a new market place in Dudley really going to bring back the likes of Beatties? I doubt it.

Admit

Of course, it is unfair to lay all the blame at cash-strapped councils, which in reality do not have as much power as we would like to think over where retailers choose to locate. What would be nice, though, would be for our leaders to admit there is a problem, instead of indignantly protesting at the unfairness of it all. Talking up tourism really isn't much help when it comes to the weekly shop.

The one ray of hope is the Queen's Square shopping centre in West Bromwich, which has breathed some life into the town by giving people what they want - large retail units with ample car parking, which are able to attract the big-name retailers. More please.

I'm a Black Country lad, and I will always support my local town, whatever the surveys say. But I do this out of blind loyalty, in pretty much the same way that I will always support Aston Villa, even though, more often than not, this involves paying out for an experience which leaves me feeling deflated and disheartened.

The trouble is, I suspect I am one of a dying breed, and this cannot bode well for the Black Country. Just as many youngsters today reject the dubious pleasures of supporting their underachieving local teams in favour of watching the expensively assembled stars of Chelsea, Manchester City or United on television, how likely is it that many of them will continue to support the likes of our ailing towns and cities, when they can just hop on a train to Birmingham.

Dedicated team uncover war dead

Helpers have uncovered war graves in a churchyard, ADAM GRINSELL tracked them in the undergrowth

THEY have battled thorns, broken tools, and a forest of Japanese knotweed throughout weeks of hard work and soggy feet.

And in a story currently being echoed in many other Black Country churchyards, a team of volunteers has uncovered forgotten First and Second World War graves.

The simple headstones now shine as a beacon of white around All Saints Church, West Bromwich.

Aged 20 to 51, those buried or remembered there served with units dotted all over the country, each headstone telling a story of a brave man who fought and died for his country.

Undergrowth

Although 14 headstones have so far been found in the undergrowth and overgrown bushes of the churchyard, more are yet to be uncovered, and the volunteers say they will not stop until each one sees the light of day.

A team of eight men and women have been dedicating their time, usually on Saturday mornings, to hack down the weeds and clean the stones and to clear pathways so relatives can once again visit their lost loved ones.

Trevor Cornfield, aged 60, who is one of the team of volunteers said: "When I started here you couldn't see the wall at the other side of the yard, the grass and bushes literally covered it."

The project was launched after an elderly man was seen struggling to reach a loved one's grave through undergrowth around it. At the beginning of the summer calls were then put out on Facebook

Volunteers have been clearing the graveyard up and uncovering war graves site West Bromwich People for those with spare time and tools to help clear the churchyard.

Mr Cornfield added: "My grandparents' grave is in here, that's been my reason for coming down."

"I knew it was here, I knew it was by the wall, but you couldn't see the wall let alone the grave."

And as the brambles were cleared, the volunteers started to uncover the white War Graves Commission headstones. Those simple white blocks that have become synonymous with the erally covered in Japanese knotweed, the strangling plant which needs to be professionally treated and killed before it can be removed. Signs still hang in the churchyard preventing public access, to stop the spread of the weed.

Now the team wants more volunteers to help continue the clean up, as there is still a lot more work to be done - and an estimated 25 war graves in total to be uncovered.

Roy added: "We could do it more quickly with more volunteers, we need more help."

"It doesn't need to be a regular thing, just whatever people can give - an hour's labour would be gratefully received."

So far, the graves that have been uncovered are of people killed during the Great War, or shortly after.

They include Sapper George Deeley, of Trinity Street, West Bromwich, who served with the Royal Engineers and who died on January 4, 1918 of wounds he received in France. He was 27.

Unknown

Private W Harry Lowe of the Staffordshire Yeomanry who died on June 29, 1921, also 27. Driver Samuel Harris, of the Royal Engineers, died on November 7 1918, age unknown, has a headstone along with Private F Stokes, Royal Leicestershire Regiment, who died on August 25, 1920.

Others remembered there are Stratford-upon-Avon-born Private Walter Redding, from Jesson Street, West Bromwich, and who served with the North Staffordshire Regiment. He died on October 30 1917, aged 36.

Second World War graves include Sergeant George Widderington James, an Air Gunner with the RAF Volunteer Reserve, who died January 20, 1944, and Aircraftman Second Class Charles Raymond Weaver, also of the Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, who died on November 2 1940.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

WHAT'S in a name? Well, plenty as it happens, particularly when it comes to the identity of the Black Country.

Greater Birmingham is dead. Long live the West Midlands Combined Authority or Birmingham and the Black Country, the councillors haven't figured that one out quite yet.

Five councils have joined forces to work on matters that affect them all and take advantage of whatever new powers or funding they might be offered by the Government.

And the reason they have done it is because the Heart of England is in danger of becoming a squeezed middle. The south east is expanding. The northern towns and cities are teaming up.

If the Black Country and Brum are to get any more than crumbs off the table they have to be pulling in the same direction. At least that's the theory behind the long-running saga of Greater Birmingham.

The problem was that every time some well-meaning person uttered it in the hope of drawing attention to the West Midlands, all it did was provoke a debate about identity.

The use of Greater Birmingham in any sort of marketing exercise did not result in national newspapers writing how the West Midlands was on the up but how its various towns were up in arms about something the London elite found to be terribly quaint. But the Black Country is the Black Country. It won't simply be quietly absorbed. We are Brummies.

The name Greater Birmingham was supposed to be about unity and solidarity. In fact it just turned out to be terribly divisive.

The combined authority is nothing to really get hot under the collar about. No-one is suggesting a new layer of bureaucracy or generous allowances for councillors. Nor are they planning on having yet more elections that barely anyone will bother turning out to vote in.

But ever since the coalition parties and Labour promised Scotland far greater control over its own affairs, there has been a lot of talk about doing the same in England.

That means whether it's the Tories, Labour or another coalition featuring one or the other after the General Election, something has to exist in the West Midlands to take advantage of anything that's on offer.

We're already playing catch up. Greater Manchester which has had one for a few years.

Maybe that's why the name Greater Birmingham seemed to roll off so many tongues. As a region we need to get our swagger back and remember what a big deal we all are, particularly when we're on the same side.

Birmingham is bigger than Manchester. It's the second city. It's time for the West Midlands to show London we should be priority number one.

Four-times decorated war hero dies aged 91

War hero David Samuel, of Rugeley

HMS Delhi, on which David Samuel served during the Second World War

A WAR hero from Rugeley passed away, days before Remembrance Day.

David Samuel, aged 91, was the last surviving Second World War Navy veteran in Staffordshire to have participated in the North Atlantic Convoys, as well as numerous invasions and landings during the conflict.

Among other campaigns, Mr Samuel took part in the Anzio landings, North African campaign, and the Crete and Malta campaigns. He was decorated with the Atlantic Star, the Africa Star, the Italy Star and the 1939-1945 Star.

Mr Samuel served on HMS Delhi, among vessels. He was captured by the Nazis, and was held as a Prisoner of War in 1944, but released when the war ended. He was 17 when he joined the Royal Navy at the start of the war. In 1942, HMS Delhi was badly damaged when its stern was struck by bombing from Italian aircraft while in action in the Bay of Algiers, North Africa.

Many of the crew were killed but Mr Samuel survived.

Visited

After being repaired, the ship continued in action in the Mediterranean, including Operation Shingle which saw the Allied Landings in Anzio, Italy.

Mr Samuel, who lived in Rugeley for 60 years, and whose parents lived in Armitage, is survived by his only daughter, Karen Hegazy, who lives in Stafford with her husband.

She said: "He never talked much about the war, but every now and then he would mention one of the places he visited as a sailor.

"He was proud to have been the Captain's trusted hand on the Delhi. He had fond memories of the Mediterranean campaign.

"He was extremely proud of being in the Navy. One of his memories included meeting actress Vivien Leigh when she was visiting the troops as part of the war effort."

Mr Samuel's father, David Sr, fought in the First World War and was awarded several medals for his part in the conflict.

The family moved to Armitage after that conflict, and lived in the Staffordshire area ever since.

The funeral is being organised in conjunction with SSAFA charity in Stafford, and military honours will be presented.

8 Petitions on library still accepted

The Chronicle Thursday, November 13, 2014

RE: The consultation on the future of Staffordshire's libraries.

The county council proposals for Great Wyrley are for it to be a community-led library, which means run by the community with volunteers. These proposals have been part of a consultation process which closed on October 7.

However, petitions are still being accepted but need to be submitted shortly. Therefore if you want to show your support, sign the 'Save our Library' petition.

This will be available in Great Wyrley library, Wardens Lane, until 1pm on Monday, November 17, after which the collated signatures will be delivered to Stafford.

I cannot reiterate enough, that given the size of our village, we should expect and be entitled to have a professionally staffed and managed library.

Scaremongering claim on parking threat

ON reading the article on page 5 of The Chronicle, October 30, headed 'Limit on car park imposed', I was very annoyed at the scaremongering on how shoppers could be fined by a private parking enforcement firm.

This totally incorrect. On private land no private parking company may use the term 'penalty or fine' in their notification to the driver or owner of the vehicle for any parking infringement on private land, it's illegal.

It's a parking charge notice, also known as a speculative invoice. Parking in disabled bays without a badge or badge not displayed and parking outside of the marked bay has no statute in law, they are merely classed as graffiti on private land.

More than 90 per cent of all parking charge notices contested through the BPA Popla (British Parking Association Parking on Private Land Appeals) service will get thrown out because the parking enforcement companies cannot show a genuine pre estimate of any loss. Also, they are not allowed to issue court proceedings in the county court in their own name, as they are not the land owner, and are not able to supply a copy of any contract to the contrary that they have an agreement with the land owner to do so.

If you want to research these facts please go to the CAG (Consumer Action Group) Forum and read about all the illegal tactics these companies use to procure these amounts of money.

Cost-saving proposals from CCG

I AM really angry that the Minor Injuries Unit has had its service to our residents slashed by 50 per cent.

This is a cost-cutting measure and not a clinical decision. I have spoken to hundreds of residents who do not want a reduction of services and who are really angry about what the Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group has done.

The CCG seems intent on both angering local residents and working against their best interests by reducing the provision of medical care.

I vigorously reject the proposals to reduce the level of service at the Minor Injuries Unit at Cannock Hospital and other services. These are cost-saving proposals and the public knows it.

I pledge to fight to bring a full NHS service to Cannock Chase.

Humans should come before dogs

REGARDING S Wilkes' comments about dogs been kept on leads at Cannock Chase, Chronicle November 6.

Not all dog owners are responsible. I think the rangers should fine people for not having dogs on leads. Also, ask owners if they have any bags to clean the mess up after them. If they haven't they have no intention on cleaning it up.

Humans come before dogs and not the other way round.

Nations will wait for others to help them out

THIS EU agreement that when a member's economy is doing well the EU demands a higher subscription, surely this system will encourage member states not to bother improving their economy and just wait for the other nations to help them out.

PM's condolences to fire victims' families

The aftermath of the blaze that killed two men at SP Fireworks, Tilcon Avenue, Stafford

THE Prime Minister has offered his condolences to the families of the men killed in fireworks factory blaze in Stafford.

David Cameron urged the authorities to 'get to the bottom' of what caused the fire at SP Fireworks in Tilcon Avenue on October 30.

During the weekly Commons question time Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy said: "May I offer my sympathies to the families of those killed and injured in the tragic factory fire in Stafford last week and also praise the wonderful response of the emergency services."

Mr Cameron replied: "Let me join my honourable friend in offering condolences to the families of those killed and we must get to the bottom of exactly how that fire started."

Hednesford residents Simon Hill-

ier, aged 41, who was working at the store and customer Stewart Staples, a 57-year-old father-of-three, were killed.

The explosion was tackled by more than 50 firefighters.

Floral tributes to the men that died have been laid at the scene. Meanwhile, nearby businesses are counting the cost.

Stephanie Horton, managing director of River Canal Rescue has been back to the site to see if any of her company's irreplaceable items could be salvaged.

However the offices, above the SP Fireworks warehouse, have been completely destroyed.

She said: "Our offices have been completely gutted, we have lost everything."

"We are now working from our dining room while we work with our insurers and look for a new premises."

"We had hoped that some of our irreplaceable items that we have spent years collecting could have been saved but sadly there is nothing left at all."

Police say it will take 'some time' to identify a cause.

Cloudy2Clear Windows - Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done."

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Pair who threw drugs onto M6 at 120mph jailed

TWO men who flung heroin onto a motorway near Cannock while on a high speed chase from police travelling at up to 120mph have been jailed.

The drugs were flung from the car after officers tried to stop the Mazda 6 on the M6 in Stafford as part of a pre-planned operation. Central Motorway Police tried to halt the car near junction 14 on the evening of July 7 this year.

But officers say driver Paul Duckworth had no intention of stopping for anyone, swerving between cars in the evening traffic at speeds of 120 mph.

In the passenger seat was Mohamed Kabbar and as the car was pursued by officers, he threw two packages out of his window close to Chasewater Country Park.

Officers were joined by the police helicopter as they tried to stop the Mazda on numerous occasions, even pulling in front of it and displaying an illuminated message in the back of their vehicle.

After a 28-minute pursuit the officers managed to box the Mazda in and manoeuvre it off the carriageway.

Packages

Following examinations of the motorway, two large packages of heroin were found on the hard shoulder. Its potential street value was estimated to be around £230,000.

Duckworth and Kabbar were arrested and interviewed by West Midlands Police officers and were charged with drugs and driving offences, which they admitted when they appeared at Stafford Crown Court.

Duckworth, aged 31, of Folkestone Croft, Bromford, Birmingham, received 15-months.

Examination of his phone showed him to be a heroin addict who used to transport drugs in order to pay off debts, rather than a dealer. He was sentenced for heroin possession, dangerous driving, driving while disqualified and without insurance.

By Simon Stone

Kabbar, 25, of Church Street, Lozells, Birmingham, was sentenced to five years in prison for possession with intent to supply heroin.

Investigating officer Pc Nick McCulloch, from West Midlands Police, said: "Kabbar and Duckworth were on their way back from Rochdale, where they had collected the drugs, when they were intercepted by CMPG officers.

"They were carrying heroin destined for communities in Birmingham, which would have had a devastating impact on users, and their family and friends.

"We are satisfied with the sentences handed to Kabbar and Duckworth, which we hope deters others from drug dealing or in the case of Duckworth, from being used as a mule to transport drugs across the country."

Climate change project just what doctor ordered

AN ex-Great Wyrley High School pupil is embarking on an ambitious expedition to the Arctic Circle to carry out the first record of climate change from caves.

Gina Moseley, a doctor who lectures at the University of Innsbruck, in Austria, is heading the Northeast Greenland Caves Project.

Dr Moseley, a 30-year-old former Sainsbury's checkout worker, is planning to take five people on the trek next summer. A further £67,000 is needed to enable it to go ahead.

Some 10 per cent of the remaining target was reached within 24 hours of launching an online platform at www.crowdfunder.co.uk on November 3. Rewards are on offer for anyone signing up. The funds will cover the cost of transport, logistics, equipment and supplies.

Important

The party will visit caves in north-east Greenland and collect samples of calcite and sediment deposits.

The chemical signature of the samples will be analysed to provide information about how the climate and vegetation has changed over the years.

Dr Moseley said: "We have a fantastic opportunity here to improve our knowledge of long-term climate change in the Arctic and in particular for a period that was warmer than today."

"These results are highly important to scientists that work on predicting what our environment might look like in future warmer years."

The team will include polar explorer Clive Johnson and National Geographic photographer Robbie Stone.

As well as the sampling work, they will be searching the area for undiscovered caves. The expedition has already received £50,000 support from the Transglobe Expedition Trust, the Petzl Foundation, the British Cave Research Association, the National Speleological Society and the Ghar Parau Foundation. Transglobe Expedition

Trust president Sir Ranulph Fiennes said: "We wish the team members every success in this highly ambitious expedition."

Further details about the climate change research expedition can be found at www.northeastgreenland-cavesproject.co.uk or via social media sites Facebook and Instagram.

Sainsbury's food donations plea

CHARITIES wishing to receive food donations are asked to contact a Cannock supermarket.

The donation scheme launched by Sainsbury's is aimed at organisations that could benefit from receiving surplus fresh food products that would otherwise go to waste.

Staff at the Orbital Way store at Cannock are urging interested charities to get in touch. Store manager Paul Davis said: "Donating our surplus food is a great way of supporting local charities."

Church is to stage its seasonal fair

A RUGELEY church will be hosting a Christmas fair on Saturday.

The event is at St Paul's Methodist/United Reformed Church, in Lichfield Street, from 10am to midday.

A Christmas room will feature stalls and gifts, and there will be homemade cakes and bric-a-brac. Refreshments are available.

Sky's the limit as delivery firm unveils new sorters

A DELIVERY firm is gearing up for its busiest ever Christmas thanks to a multi-million pound investment in parcel handling equipment.

A pair of 'sky sorters' have been installed at the 150,000 sq ft national sorting centre of APC Overnight, at Kingswood Lakeside in Cannock.

They are part of a £6m investment at the site, where 140 jobs have been created in recent months.

The new machines allow the company to process between 15,000 and 20,000 parcels every hour.

Peak

It means APC will be able to handle double the amount of parcels it deals with overnight as it approaches its pre-Christmas peak.

The business has also acquired a 2.5 acre plot of land next to its main sorting centre to increase the number of delivery vans and lorries that can park at the site.

Chief executive Karl Brown said: "The launch of our new sortation system opens up huge potential for us to significantly increase our overnight capabilities."

APC has already more than doubled its workforce since moving from Essington. It handles an average of 100,000 items each night. In the run-up to Christmas is expecting that to rise to 150,000.

It centres on a novelist, an artist, a composer and an amateur detective, who are all squabbling over a legacy in an isolated house to the perfect backdrop of a thunderstorm.

Monthly award is given to Star pub

A PENKRIDGE watering hole has been named Camera's Pub of the Month for November.

Branch chairman Neil Butler made the presentation to Terry Dunning, licensee of The Star Inn, Market Place on November 4.

Meals are served from noon to 2.30 and from 6.30-9pm Monday to Thursday, from noon to 2.30pm Friday and from noon to 4pm on Saturday and Sunday.

Tory hopeful backing apprentice numbers

Conservative Prospective Parliamentary Candidate Amanda Milling and apprentice Scott Robinson

MORE than a thousand apprentices were taken on in Cannock Chase last year – and the figures have been welcomed by Prospective Parliamentary candidate Amanda Milling.

Figures show that 1,120 new apprenticeships were started in the district last year, taking the total since 2010 to 4,950.

Prime Minister David Cameron has made a £1 billion commitment to deliver three million apprenticeships by 2020 and end youth unemployment. Amanda Milling, the Conservative hopeful for Cannock Chase, said: "These figures are great news. This means more young people getting the skills they'll need to get on in life."

Impressed

Ms Milling met Scott Robinson, an apprentice at Pertemps People Development Group (PPDG) in Cannock. He began his scheme in January and is one of four apprentices employed by the company in Mill Street.

Ms Milling added: "I have been hugely impressed by Scott, one of PPDG's apprentices. In the last month alone, he has taken part in Coach-right's bid for new contracts at the Department for Work & Pensions and attended a meeting with Chris Grayling, Justice Secretary as part of his visit to Cannock. At both he made an invaluable contribution."

Scott said: "I have had my eyes opened to a totally new world. The staff have given me something I can never fully pay back, respect, independence and responsibility. And I now have two families, both at home and at work, supporting me in my long term goal to become a sports coach."

Refit ideas for market are set to be unveiled

FINAL plans are being drawn up for a revamp of Cannock's indoor market. The proposals are set to be revealed in the coming weeks.

Cannock Chase District Council has commissioned a study into how the market can be improved. The authority has earmarked £10,000 for the review.

Council leader George Adamson said he had instructed officers to look at what could be done at the market.

Their ideas will then go before councillors, who will discuss what plans should be pursued, before a final vote is taken.

It comes after the authority agreed to allow a popular Friday street market to continue after a successful trial period.

Solution

Indoor stallholders have raised concerns that the outdoor market had taken away their trade.

Councillor Adamson said: "The indoor market is in need of a refurbishment, and we are committed to working with the traders to come up with the best solution."

The outdoor market has seen a buzz return to the town but it is important we help traders in the indoor market as well."

A council report on the market, in Market Hall Street, states: "Overall, the street market appears to have had a positive impact on the vitality of the town centre."

"The majority of retailers consider the market to have had a neutral to positive effect on their business and the shoppers' survey demonstrates overwhelming support for the street market."

"However, the positive impact of the street market has not been so great as to reverse the decline in visitors to the town centre experienced since the recession."

Brownies spruce up trees for craft fair

Brownies Amy Beddows, Lara Bullock, Keira Thacker and Isabella Davies-Rounds, all aged nine, and Grace

YOUNGSTERS helped to decorate trees to brighten up a library ahead of a craft fair. Girls from the 1st Burntwood and 2nd Boney Hay Brownies made handmade decorations for the 4ft trees at Burntwood Library, at Sankeys Corner. The venue staged the craft fair last Saturday.

Louise Bishop, leader of the 1st Burntwood Brownies, said: "The girls from both Brownies groups really enjoyed decorating the trees. One was themed on the Disney film Frozen and all the decorations were blue."

The youngsters decorated the trees with paper chains and candy canes. The library had 15 mini trees decorated for the festive fair.

The 1st Burntwood Brownies meet on Thursdays from 6 to 7.30pm at Chase Terrace Technology College, while the Boney Hay Brownies meet at Fulfen Primary School in Burntwood every Monday from 6 to 7.30pm.

Sea Scouts' fundraising trek is one to remember

SEA Scouts did their bit for commemorative charities when they walked 20 miles to the National Memorial Arboretum.

Ten members of the 1st Blackfords Explorer Sea Scouts, together with two leaders and Tosh the dog, set off from their base in Old Fallow Road, Cannock, to the centre for remembrance at Alrewas near Lichfield.

The aim was to raise as much as possible for Help For Heroes and The Royal British Legion. Leader Simon Edwards said they were looking to collect around £1,500.

He said the walkers had set off at 7am in order to arrive at Alrewas before its 5pm closure. The route went from Cannock to Rugeley then alongside the canal to Alrewas and onto the National Memorial Arboretum.

Worthy

"The Explorers arrived at 3pm very tired but happy they had completed the walk and raised money for two very worthy causes," he said.

He added the group, aged from 14 to 18, had held fundraisers in the past, but only for their own group. It was the first time they had supported other causes.

The group have set up a Virgin Money Giving page which can be found at <http://uk.virginmoneygiving.com/BlackfordsSeaScouts> should anyone wish to donate.

The 1st Blackfords Sea Scouts are a Royal Navy recognised Sea Scout Group, one of only 105 sea scout groups in the country to achieve RN recognition.

For more information about Blackfords Sea Scouts, call group scout leader Tracey Edwards on 01543 504665.

Trust Christmas to be all wrapped up

James Wood from Staffordshire Wildlife Trust with some of the goodies on offer at the fair

VISITORS to Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's headquarters can get Christmas all wrapped up this weekend.

The nature conservation charity is holding its annual festive fair this Saturday and Sunday. It takes place at the Wolseley Centre near Rugeley from 10am to 4pm each day. There will be more than 30 stalls offering a range of locally handmade crafts including jewellery, wood crafts and paintings. Other gift ideas include bottles of the Trust's fundraising Peregrine and Wild Wolseley ales.

Traditional minced pies and mulled wine will also be available, along with jams, cakes and other refreshments. Admission is £1.50.

Pledge over police cuts

CUTS of £22.8 million will be made to Staffordshire Police spending without losing any frontline officers.

Chiefs say redundancies will 'probably' be made among backroom staff.

Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis said big savings had already been achieved and has now identified a further 11 areas where spending could be cut. He is looking to save £4m through a review of buildings, £3.2m in a shake-up of investigative services and £600,000 by a restructuring of senior management.

High on his list is replacing outdated technology which he claims costs the force millions each year.

New equipment would free up between 3,000 and 5,000 police hours every week.

Mr Ellis said: "I'm confident there will be more frontline policing time in Staffordshire by the end of next year than there has been at any time in the last decade for 25 per cent less of the cost." But he could not rule out redundancies in backroom staff.

He said: "There probably will be, but not many."

Mr Ellis even said he planned not to raise the police levy on council tax but would keep it as an option if necessary.

He has provided a five-year financial plan instead of the more usual two or three-year forecast. He vowed any spare money would go towards bolstering front line policing.

MP cuts ribbon as labels firm moves to new unit

MP Michael Fabricant has opened Mercian Labels' new factory in Burntwood.

The 45-year-old label manufacturing business bought the site on the Plant Lane Business Park to continue its growth as a result of demand for its digital and security labelling products.

The new 24,000 sq ft factory represents a significant increase in capacity for the business that was previously based in a 6,000 sq ft site in Cannock. Mercian Labels will be recruiting another 25 full time positions at both its Burntwood and Derby factories in the next three years in a variety of positions including skilled production roles, apprenticeships, finance, marketing, sales, quality and management.

Managing director Dr Adrian Steele said: "After seven consecutive years of growth we were experiencing significant overcrowding challenges.

Support

"We identified this vacant former speedboat manufacturing facility earlier this summer as being ideal for our future needs and with support from our professional advisers we secured a quick transaction in early August. This allowed us to refit the site to our specification before moving the factory in October.

"The project has taken a lot of effort from everyone involved.

"The new factory will allow us to expand production to meet both domestic and export demand for our tamper evident and digital label and carton products for the next 10 years.

"With a fantastic facility like this we can now grow to meet pent up customer demand for our products."

The site was formally opened on November 7 by the Lichfield and Burntwood Conservative MP in the presence of 70 stakeholders including customers, suppliers, staff, local councillors and professional advisers. Unveiling a commemorative plaque at the factory, Mr Fabricant said: "I used to be a customer of Mercian Labels before I ever became an MP, so it was a genuine pleasure and a privilege to open their new facility in Burntwood."

Attending the formal opening and factory tour were representatives from key suppliers from the labelling industry including Neil Lilly from Rotometrics, Phill Attwood from Avery Dennison, Nick Boyle from Manter and Paul Briggs from Xeikon.

The acquisition saw Mercian Labels review its banking facilities which concluded with a change of banker to Handelsbanken in Tamworth.

Paul Thacker of Handelsbanken said: "It is always a pleasure to assist a successful local business, such as Mercian, to relocate to fantastic new premises which will help them meet their future goals and aspirations."

The project was supported by the Regional Growth Fund and the Business Development Programme that encourages businesses in Staffordshire

Margot always with us, says family at farewell

'SHE lit a flame in us and in so many others, none more so than the people that rallied around during the darkest days'.

The short but rich life of toddler Margot Martini captured in a single sentence.

The two-year-old's heartbreaking family paid an emotional final farewell to the inspirational tot at a private funeral last week, vowing: 'Margot will always stay with us. In our hearts and in our memories'.

The service took place at Mortlake Crematorium in Richmond. Margot died on October 27 after a courageous battle with leukaemia.

Mother Vicki, who is originally from Essington and attended school in Cheslyn Hay said: "Margot was beautiful on the inside and out."

"She was generous and thoughtful. Brave and considerate. Clever and funny. Cheeky and assertive."

"She was a joy to have in our life. I was so proud of her. She was the little girl I had always wanted."

"I had plans for Margot and I. Things I was looking forward to us doing together. Like buying shoes and her trying on my wedding dress."

"Teaching her family recipes and how to use my sewing machine."

"I feel distraught that I can't have my daughter. And I will never get to do those simple things with her. I feel robbed. It's so unfair. I loved Margot with all my heart and I will miss her terribly."

"We are saying goodbye to Margot. But she continues to make me proud and my love for her will never diminish. I will hold Margot in my heart forever."

Dreams

Her father Yaser added: "Margot was such a perfect, wonderful blessing; she enriched all of our lives. And yet, I feel that Margot is still with us."

"And I know that Margot will always stay with us. In our hearts and in our memories. And hopefully she will regularly grace us in our dreams. This is after all a celebration of her life."

"Margot lit a flame in us and in so many others, none more so than the people that rallied around during the darkest days."

"It was these same people, you, that helped us find purpose and at times, perspective, even when going through something as unthinkable as losing a child. We've taken to calling and referring to these wonderful people as: Team Margot."

Reverend Dorothy Moore Brooks, the Chaplain from Great Ormond Street Hospital carried out the service.

Tractor Trev to be star turn at rural academy

A TRACTOR highlighting the issues of rural crime and its impact will be an added attraction at an open evening.

The Rural Enterprise Academy near Penkridge is hosting the event on Monday, November 24.

Staffordshire Police wildlife crime and rural officer Pc Peter Clarke will be on hand with Trev the Tractor to help highlight rural crime.

The tractor was named by local children and will be the centre of attention during a tour of the academy, conducted by students. Visitors can meet teachers and listen to presentations from principal Lorraine Makin and there will be classroom activities where subject leaders will talk about the curriculum.

The academy, which opened in September 2012, shares a 180-hectare parkland site with South Staffordshire College's Rod-baston campus.

The academy combines academic study at GCSE and A-level with a strong emphasis on business enterprise. Extra-curricular activities include horse riding and game bird management.

Stephen's mother on shortlist for award

THE mother of inspirational teenager Stephen Sutton has been nominated for a top award.

Jane Sutton, aged 50, of Burntwood, has been shortlisted for the Tesco Mum of the Year Awards 2015.

Marking its 10th anniversary year, the awards celebrate the wonderful things mothers do and Jane's story was selected from thousands of nominations sent in by people from all over the UK.

Stephen, who died in May, aged 18 from bowel cancer, raised more than £5m for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

After being diagnosed at the age of 15, he drew up a "bucket list" of things he wanted to achieve - and one of them was to raise £10,000.

Jane provided constant support for the former Chase Terrace Technology College pupil as he inspired the nation with his selfless charity work.

His Stephen's Story blog made worldwide headlines and he won the hearts of thousands of supporters and made his trademark 'thumbs-up' symbol - a sign of his positive attitude.

Jane is continuing to build on Stephen's legacy by raising money and awareness of teenage cancers in the hope more will be diagnosed at an earlier stage.

Fears

She recently spoke out at a Teenage Cancer Trust event at the Labour Party Conference, to urge GPs to listen to young people's cancer fears and she has more fundraising events in the pipeline.

The money Stephen raised will be invested in the development or improvement of Teenage Cancer Trust units across seven cities in England and Scotland and spent on training cancer nurses and support staff.

It will also pay for 50 Stephen Sutton scholarships for a postgraduate certificate in teenage and young adult cancer care at Coventry University.

Jane said: "My son Stephen was courageous and inspirational.

"His selfless fundraising and positive attitude touched people across the world and the huge outpouring of love and support he received in return was humbling.

"This money will make a significant difference to other young people with cancer and that would have made Stephen very happy."

To mark the 10th anniversary of the Mum of the Year Awards, Tesco will donate £1,000 to a charity of each shortlisted mother's choice. Jane said: "The money will go directly to Teenage Cancer Trust, which is what Stephen would want."

All shortlisted parents will be considered by a judging panel, which includes DJ Sara Cox, TV personality Gabby Logan and sports presenter Denise Lewis.

The winner will be presented with her award in front of friends and family at the Savoy Hotel in London in March.

Debbie Chernin, Tesco Mum of the Year manager, said: "Each year we find remarkable mums and discover more amazing achievements and successes. This year is no exception."

"Everyone shortlisted has achieved something outstanding and shown selfless devotion to others."

"Our aim is to show every single mum just how wonderful she is."

Game gives players run for their money

Recreation assistant Emily Fowler-Parkes, promotes the popular Walking Football activity at Rugeley Leisure Centre

NEW walking football sessions have launched at Rugeley Leisure Centre and are already proving popular with older players.

The walking football sessions are aimed at men over the age of 50 and take place at the Burnhill Lane centre on a Thursday afternoon. Players are penalised by giving away a free-kick if they jog, run or spring while the ball is in play.

The sessions launched last month and up to 12 men have been turning up. Bosses have since added a second session on a Monday to cope with demand.

Angela Robertson, a gym instructor and receptionist, said: "The sessions have proved really popular so much so we've added a Monday session.

"The guys just turn up and play. They love it. It's aimed at older players over the age of 50 and you are penalised if you run."

The Monday session will run from 7pm until 8pm and the Thursday one currently takes place from 1pm to 2pm.

Games are played on the astroturf at the centre and sessions cost £2.50.

The game is played on a small pitch with a size Futsal ball, with the game restarted with a kick, roll or throw-in.

HS2 route change not ruled out by Government

THE Government has said it will not rule out changes to the route of the second phase of HS2 through Staffordshire.

Transport secretary Patrick McLoughlin says the section of the high-speed line from Fradley to Crewe could be amended.

It is part of the Y-shaped phase two route which will see the line taken north from Birmingham to Manchester and Leeds, with a completion date of around 2033.

Mr McLoughlin said the route could be altered as he announced the launch of a nine-week consultation on 'safeguarding directions'.

Committed

This would ensure it is protected from conflicting development and could pave the way for homeowners to ask the Government to buy their properties.

Mr McLoughlin said: "We continue to be committed to a Y-shaped HS2 network delivered as quickly as possible.

"Decisions on the phase two route will be taken when the necessary analysis has been completed. While we work towards finalising a route for phase two, I cannot rule out the possibility of needing to make changes to the route - including that from Fradley to Crewe.

By Adam Burling

"In the interests of ensuring the timely and economic delivery of phase two I must consider protecting that part of the route from conflicting development in the meantime.

"Making safeguarding directions would also trigger the entitlement for affected owner-occupiers to ask the Government to buy their property under statutory blight arrangements."

It comes after transport bosses pledged to press ahead with plans to include a link at Handsacre.

Bletchley Park guide is speaker

SI Cannock & District

MORE than 90 members and guests enjoyed SI Cannock & District's diamond anniversary year international evening.

President Janis Lomas welcomed everyone to the evening, at The Barns, giving a particular welcome to Midlands Chase Region President Edna Shafer-Hughes who spoke briefly about the international work of the organisation.

President Janis also welcomed John Chapman, a guide at Bletchley Park and the speaker for the evening. During the year Janis, an historian, has been highlighting the lives and work of women who have made a difference. John, a wonderful speaker, continued the theme in his talk about Women at Bletchley.

His passion for Bletchley was obvious as he told stories about some of the women who had worked there, many as code breakers, during the Second World War. John told of the daring exploits of some of the women. One, who visited Bletchley recently aged 90, was one of four women parachuted into Europe.

Soroptimist Maggie Shore expressed everyone's thanks to John for such an interesting talk. She told him members were looking forward to learning more when they visit Bletchley early next year.

A raffle raised £235 for the SI Emergency Fund. President Janis thanked everyone for their generosity.

David Tucker, right, welcomed to the club by president-elect David Mayes

PRESIDENT-ELECT David Mayes inducted new member David Tucker, a retired sales and marketing manager in industrial coatings, into the club at a recent meeting.

Geoff Knights suggested a Christmas carol service next year followed by mince pies and mulled wine. The idea was warmly welcomed and Geoff and Elizabeth Wall have taken on the responsibility.

in June 2016. It is envisaged that detailed planning will commence this month.

A formal meeting took place at the Duke of York pub regarding a new HQ for The 7th Lichfield (St Michael's) Scout Group.

It is looking to cater for its growing membership. However, a location has proved hard to find. Four alternative sites were discussed, with one a firm favourite. It is hoped by the end of November the position will become clearer.

Ladies get taste of food festival

THE club welcomed Nora Price to its October meeting. She showed everyone how to keep fit with chair exercises. Everyone felt good and enjoyed the challenge.

At the November meeting, members will welcome Jacqueline Smith from Nova Chocs and hope for some free samples. Thirteen members of the luncheon club met at the Trafalgar, Wimblebury and thoroughly enjoyed their meals.

Six members visited the Ludlow Food Festival sampling cheeses, pickles, sausages and pork pies, ambling around the old town and viewing the castle in the warm sunshine. The forthcoming Federation event is A Black Country evening with faggots and peas.

Guild meetings are held the second Monday of each month at 2pm at St. Peter's Church Hall, Hednesford.

Evacuees and local children from Newborough village school

Ray and Reg Williams were evacuated to Colton from Westgate-on-Sea

Peter Phipps of Margate was billeted in Hednesford

Emotive look at Children on the Move during war

THE stories of children sent away to live with new families during the Second World War is being told in an exhibition.

Many youngsters from across England ended up in Staffordshire as they were ushered away from the firing line. And they built up relationships with their new families that ended up lasting a lifetime.

Evocative images are on display at the Museum of Cannock Chase in Hednesford in the Children on the Move exhibition.

Among the evacuees was Daphne Slade, who was evacuated from London to Norton Canes at the age of five. She remembers clearly the blackout in London and how the kerbs were painted so people 'wouldn't knock into each other' as they walked.

Her parents had letters about the evacuation and decided to send Daphne and her sister on 'The City of Benares', a ship travelling to Canada.

They were sent instead with a distant auntie and uncle in Norton Canes and travelled there by train by themselves. The couple were publicans and

MEMORY LANE

By Adam Burling

Daphne learned to play the piano in their bar. When the London bombing got worse her parents moved in with them and then got a house three doors down.

Ivy Field, from Birmingham, ended up at Pipewood boarding school for girls near Rugeley. She had originally been taken to Henley-in-Arden in Warwickshire before being transferred.

At Pipewood, Ivy spent a lot of time outside with the rest of the boarders, tending to chickens and her little vegetable patch, and attending the local church on Sundays.

She can remember the monthly Sunday visits by her family, and received one or two visits from her cousin who was based at Hednesford.

Ivy said she thanks her time at Pipewood for teaching her skills she might otherwise not have had the chance to learn, like typing, filleting fish and dancing. While she was at Pipewood her house received a direct hit, so she could never return to her original family home. All of her family had been out of the house at the time, and so they were all safe.

Another Pipewood evacuee was Ethel Ridley, who travelled there from Sparkbrook in Birmingham.

Children such as Shirley Webb had come from as far away as Kent, where she left behind her parents to stay in Colton.

Along with her brother, they were taken to the biggest house in the village which stood in its own grounds.

They were taken care of by their 18-year-old daughter who did not really know how to look after small children. Shirley and her brother ended up spending more time with the house servants. They shared their meals with the servants and the cook in particular was a lovely lady who used to take them back to her home in Rugeley.

The exhibition runs until December 19. Collections officer Yvonne Cooper said: "There is a wide range of stories about children that were evacuated."

"We have complemented it with artefacts from our own Second World War collection, which adds more to it."

£1.2m respite centre progressing well, say county council chiefs

COUNCIL bosses say a respite centre for people with learning difficulties in Cannock is progressing well.

Staffordshire County Council says the nine-bed facility in Longford Road, to be called Woodland View Short Breaks, should be fully open early in the new year.

The centre will provide short term breaks for people with learning disabilities and will be fully accessible to wheelchair users.

It will also contain a lounge, games room, quiet room, sensory room and a secure garden. A specialised single-bed self-catering apartment is also being built, designed to develop life skills and help people with learning disabilities towards becoming more independent.

Welcome

The £1.2 million project has been funded by Staffordshire County Council and is being built in association with Wrekin Housing Trust.

County Councillor Alan White, Cabinet member for health, care and wellbeing said: "This new centre will provide welcome respite for people with learning disabilities and their carers.

"The centre is also designed to be a 'home from home' for residents, giving them the care they need and also helping them to become more independent if they so wish."

Teacher is cleared of harassing love rival

A SCHOOL'S head of drama has been cleared of harassing a love rival after her estranged husband began seeing their children's teacher.

Dawn Maymand, who teaches at Chase Terrace Technology College faced Wolverhampton magistrates on a charge of harassing Lynsey Lloyd.

She had started a relationship with Mrs Maymand's husband Stephen following their split in February, the court heard.

Mrs Maymand, aged 35, of Kewstoke Road, Willenhall, was accused of entering Ms Lloyd's home without permission, leaving tacks on her driveway and driving slowly past her house on a number of occasions between April and June this year.

She denied the charge and was cleared after the bench ruled there was not enough evidence.

During a day-long trial, Ms Lloyd said she had started a relationship with Mr Maymand, a West Midlands Police officer, in April.

Shocked

Ms Lloyd, a former teacher at Beacon Primary School in Willenhall, claimed the harassment began when Mr Maymand informed his wife that he would be taking their children to her home for dinner.

The court heard that in an attempt to find out where her children would be if they were to visit Lloyd's house again, Mrs Maymand had asked for the address, before driving slowly past the property later that night.

Ms Lloyd also claimed that she was left 'completely shocked' when Mrs Maymand had visited her house a few days later, walking in without permission when the door was slightly open.

She claimed Mrs Maymand had accused her of having an 'inappropriate relationship with her husband' before becoming frustrated when Ms Lloyd said they were just friends.

On another occasion, the court heard Ms Lloyd believed Mrs Maymand left a number of tacks on her drive while checking to see if her husband had been living there. Mrs Maymand said she had 'no explanation' of why the tacks were there.

Defendant Dawn Maymand arrives at court

Lynsey Lloyd with Stephen Maymand at the court

Ms Lloyd, who now teaches elsewhere, taught the Maymands' daughters until they were removed from Beacon Primary by their mother, said Mr John Walker, defending.

"The children would presumably have been happy at the school so it would not have been easy for her to do that," he said.

"My client has given perfectly reasonable explanations for each incident that has been put to the court."

Chairman of the bench, Mr David Firman, said: "We believe Mrs Maymand's conduct did not cross the legal boundary's for us to find her guilty."

Developers put in bids for town park refit

Grounds for change with an added extra

DEVELOPERS are being chosen for the multi-million-pound revamp of Hednesford Park as the project takes a step forward.

Under the plans, the pavilion will be modernised, a community room created and a cafe built.

By Adam Burling

The games area is being replaced with a new one, including a skate park, teen shelter and kick-about area. An additional car park will be provided.

The children's play area will also be relocated to the centre of the park with the equipment updated.

One of the three adult pitches will go, to be replaced by a junior or two mini-soccer pitches. One of the two bowling greens will also be lost.

Withdraw

The plans had been given the green light by Cannock Council in October last year after Sport England withdrew a challenge to the scheme at the 11th hour.

The regulatory body had objected to the loss of a full-size football pitch and a bowling green at Hednesford Park.

But following talks with council chiefs, Sport England bosses decided not to pursue their opposition.

In an update report to the council, it has been revealed that applications for tenders are now being considered.

Nine firms have been vying to build the new play facilities, while three were interested in working on the skate park.

The bill for the work is being met by a £2.2 million grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund in 2012.

Culture leader Councillor Christine Mitchell said: "A raft of improvements will be taking place."

Paula Smith in the baby change facility at Keys Park

A HEDNESFORD footballer made a quick change when he became the first to use a new facility. Francino Francis did the honours when he changed daughter Sofia's nappy in the baby change facility at Keys Park.

It has been paid for by Hednesford Town FC Supporters Association and installed as a result of growing bookings for outside functions such as weddings and christenings.

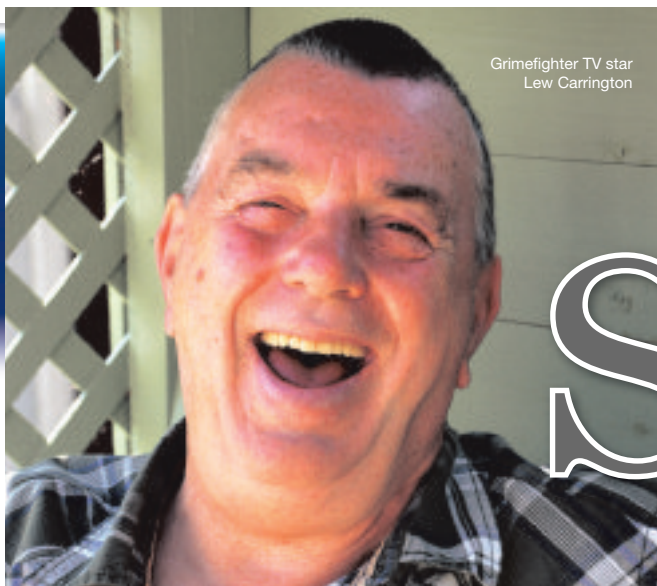

It is located in the ladies' toilet on the first floor near the club's main office. Office worker Paula Smith was behind the idea. Supporters' Association chairman Scott Smith said: "Members voted in favour of the baby changing unit."

Computer users' help

A free IT buddy has been set up at Hednesford Library.

A volunteer is on hand at the Anglesey Street facility to help new computer users with setting up e-mail accounts and accessing the internet.

Visitors can book an hour long one-to-one session with the opportunity of two follow-up sessions. Call 01543 422798.

Grimefighter TV star Lew Carrington

Come and meet our dentist Polly

As part of improvements for the patient experience at North Street a general dentistry practice works alongside the denture prescribing team.

"This one-stop service has always been the case, but people are still finding out about North Street Dental Clinic," said principal Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng) GDC108353. Dental surgeon Polly (GDC No 188090), a Doctor of Dental Medicine with a particular interest in restorative, cosmetic and paediatric fields, looks after the patients. She joined the team in Dudley after working in Michigan at one of America's most prestigious cosmetic dental centres.

A dental plan practice, it offers everything from a simple filling to complex restorative procedures and implant dentistry. Initial consultations are complementary.

Star quality

Lew gets last laugh with failing teeth

LEWIS Carrington was born to be a star. A natural funnyman, he won the nation's hearts in the TV documentary Grimefighters. Known as Lew to his friends, he laughs easily as he recalls his brush with fame and as the unlikely adopted ambassador for the city of Wolverhampton.

Topping 1,500 members of his Grimefighters' Fan Club on social networking website Facebook, Lew had his supporters clamouring for him to appear in the New Year's Honours list.

Still a well-known character on the city streets four years after sharing his unique take on life before the cameras, Lew is now enjoying retirement from his life of grime and a cameo appearance on Harry Hill's Get Toasted.

But hidden beneath the smiles and priceless one-liners, the jovial comic genius was struggling with another often-comedic subject - dentures.

And indirectly, the former environmental waste operative owes his celebrity status to an ill-fitting set of them. "I could have retired from the council earlier, but wanted to save enough money to get my problem fixed," says Lew.

Wife Gill adds: "He'd seen the stories in the papers about how other people had their problems sorted out and had also done a lot of internet research."

Lew, aged 67, of Wednesfield, was cared for by Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng) GDC108353, principal at the Denture Clinic and Jonathon Pugh BDS MSc (Implant Dentistry) GDC 62663, principal of Total Implant Solutions in Tettenhall Road, Wolverhampton.

Friendly staff

The two clinicians share a long-standing working relationship.

Says Lew: "I was using a bucket-load of fixative just to keep my teeth in. They'd be okay for half-an-hour and then they'd be dancing all over the place."

"My top denture wasn't too bad, but the lower moved all around with eating and laughing was risky. I'd had the trouble for years - every time I'd have a bit of tough steak, I was done for."

"I was a bit apprehensive, but I need not have been. I had two implants to stabilise my lower denture and I never felt a thing. I expected a lot of discomfort, but after a couple of days I was absolutely fine."

"Steve made me the over-dentures for the bottom and a new top set of teeth. They are absolutely great. Nothing was too much trouble for any of the friendly staff and going to see Steve was a pleasure."

"Going to the dentist had never been so good and I am over the moon with the results."

On his star role in Grimefighters, Lew recalls: "There were some funny moments. We'd had a call to pick up a dead cat in Penfields. They said the animal was on the end of a drive. I looked everywhere and couldn't see it."

"There was a charity collection going on in the road where people had left clothing in bags for pick up. By the time I'd found out that the cat had been put into one of them, it had been collected by the charity and the van was disappearing down the road."

"Somebody was going to get a surprise," adds Lew with a wry smile.

Sentenced driver has term cut on appeal

A DANGEROUS driver who was jailed after leading police on a high speed chase has had his sentence cut.

Jamie Lee Edwards, aged 25, of Schofield Avenue, West Bromwich, was jailed at Shrewsbury Crown Court in May after admitting dangerous driving, driving while disqualified and breaching a suspended sentence.

At the Court of Appeal, Mr Justice Kenneth Parker, sitting with Mr Justice Goss, said Edwards should have received more credit for his guilty plea and cut his sentence from 36 months to 30. Police had spotted Edwards in a van suspected of being involved in fuel theft. He drove at speed on the M54 hard shoulder and even reversed into a police car.

As he headed for the M6 near Cannock, a stinger device burst two tyres and he was eventually caught.

Wildlife in the picture for fundraising calendar

A 10-YEAR-old boy with a passion for wildlife and photography has combined the two to create a fundraising calendar.

Ryan Wood, of Hixon, near Stafford, is selling the 2015 calendar to raise money for the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust.

It costs £4.50 to buy and will be on sale at Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's Wolseley Centre at Rugeley during a festive craft fair this weekend.

Copies are being sold at Hixon Pet Shop and Studio 14 hairdressers on Freeman Street in Stafford.

The youngster has spent the past nine months capturing on film a whole range of animals, from deer on Cannock Chase to dolphins in Scotland, and birds at Doxey Marshes in Stafford.

His mother Rachel said: "I'm so proud of what Ryan has done. The calendar looks great. He loves photography and wildlife so this just seemed the perfect idea. It's the first time he's ever done anything like this."

Ryan realised his love for photography when he went on holiday with his mother to the Highlands in Scotland over the summer. Mrs Wood added: "It was on that holiday that I realised how good Ryan was at taking pictures."

"He took photos of dolphins and they were wonderful."

"When we came back I put some of his photos on my Facebook page and my friends said how great they were. They gave me the idea of doing the calendar and I took it from there."

"Ryan wants to be a wildlife photographer when he grows up."

Ryan is a member of the Wildlife Trust, as well as the RSPB and he sponsors a dolphin in Scotland.

Mrs Wood says her son is already taking photos for his next calendar. She added: "He wants to do it again. I think he'll choose a different charity next time."

PICK OF THE WEEK

Family matters to James as the search continues

James Nesbitt is hands down one of the best actors on television and has been for a while now.

Everything he puts his name to oozes quality and he has a range that takes some beating.

At a time when the idea of another legal, medical or police procedural drama makes us yawn, it can't be easy picking a credible role, but simply by being in The Missing, Nesbitt has made it fantastic television.

Of course, this particular drama is helped along no end by the fact that Nesbitt is joined by such a top-drawer cast, but Frances O'Connor, who plays Emily Hughes in the hard-hitting drama, couldn't speak more highly of her co-star.

She explains: "I love acting with Jimmy because he just brings it! Every time you do a scene, he steps up and really gives it a hundred per cent for you. I love all the choices he makes, he's great. We've had to do some really tricky scenes but he's been very supportive."

O'Connor isn't exaggerating when she talks of those tricky scenes. With such a sensitive subject matter – a little boy going missing while on holiday in France – it's little wonder the nation has taken this eight-part drama into their hearts, and O'Connor didn't need much time to think about signing up to the part.

"I just loved these scripts – I thought they were brilliant," she explains. "I was sent two and wanted to read more because they're just such great page-turners. The other great thing about the scripts is that the dialogue is so real and psychologically so true. So when you're acting, you feel it's really rock solid in terms of character and it's very easy to believe in the story."

She continues: "Because I'm a mother, I instantly related to the story. I did a bit of research about what it's like for people whose children have gone missing but really I just had to use my imagination. It's every parent's worst nightmare so I found it pretty easy to access the emotions for it."

The actress seems to be drawn to complex, thought-provoking dramas

– when we last saw her in Mr Selfridge, her character Rose had announced she was dying – but she insists that the tricky subject areas are all brilliantly dealt with here thanks to the writing.

She says of The Missing: "The storytelling is really clever and really sharp which you can feel when you're playing it. There are multiple strands to the story which are very cleverly interwoven."

We reach the halfway mark tonight, and Oliver's disappearance continues to take its toll on James and Frances' characters. As we pay a visit to 2006, the case is thrown into disarray by a murder, and Tony (Nesbitt) is left horrified when someone who he thought was his friend is revealed not to be the person they claimed to be.

In the present day, Julien (Tcheky Karyo) is on a mission to reinvestigate the links between the dead witness and Oliver's disappearance, while raking over the past starts to take its toll on Emily (O'Connor) and her relationship with Mark (Jason Fletmyng).

James Nesbitt heads the cast of The Missing, Tuesday, BBC1, 9pm

24 Hours in Police Custody Channel 4, 9pm

It's debatable whether this eye-opening series will have inspired many people to sign up to be a police officer, but it has shown the job is rarely dull – acting sergeant Wil Taylor describes his own typical shifts as 'unrelenting carnage'. It's easy to see why as in the last in the current series, he has to deal with crimes ranging from the theft of 98p's worth of a diet soft drink to joyriding in a 45-seater bus. But the most complicated case involves three sex workers who were arrested during a raid on a brothel. The cops have to establish whether the women are victims of trafficking, or if they are the ones guilty of exploitation. Meanwhile, we also get an insight into Wil's own remarkable story, revealing that although he's gone from being a sports-mad law student to a double amputee police officer, he's always been driven by a need to see justice done.

Intruders BBC2, 9pm

When the first episode of this supernatural thriller aired a few weeks ago, many viewers were unsure what was most unsettling – the general air of doom, the challenge of working out what exactly was going on, or John Simm's American accent. But now we've had a chance to adjust, we're starting to be gripped by this tale of former LA cop Jack Whelan (Simm) and his quest to find out what really happened to his wife Amy (Mira Sorvino).

This week, it looks like the detective (and the audience) may start to get some answers as Gary confesses he's a lot more clued up on Bill Anderson's murder and research than he previously admitted – and then reveals a startling connection between Amy and Rose. Meanwhile, Madison begins making sense of Marcus's memories, and Frank grows more concerned over Richard, but could soon have some even bigger worries.

TUESDAY

Madeleine McCann: A Global Obsession Channel 5, 7pm

In May 2007, three-year-old Madeleine McCann went missing in the Portuguese resort of Praia da Luz. In this documentary, journalist Martin Frizell – who broke the story in the UK on GMTV – analyses the unprecedented campaign run by Kate and Gerry McCann to keep their daughter in the public eye. He traces both the positive and negative reactions that this crusade evoked and hears from the father of a seven-year-old boy who went missing in 2003, but quickly disappeared from the national news.

WEDNESDAY

The Apprentice BBC1, 9pm

After a decade on the box, there was always a danger of this glorified job interview turning into a parody of itself. And that happened in no time, with comedians jumping at the chance of lampooning Alan Sugar and the endless supply of besuited, power-dressing wannabe apprentices. Little wonder the show runners wanted to shake things up a little this time, so the other week when Lord Sugar fired not one but three contestants, Apprentice addicts were rocked to their core. So far in series 10, we've said goodbye to Chiles, Robert, Scott, Lindsay, Nurun, Steven, Sarah, Ella Jade and Jemma among others, so who knows how many will be kicked out in the latest edition?

The Fall, Thursday, BBC2, 9pm

THURSDAY

The Fall BBC2, 9pm

Jamie Dornan is a busy chap at the moment. As women around the world hold out for his much-anticipated performance as businessman Christian in Fifty Shades of Grey, we're lucky enough to be treated to his eerie portrayal of a serial killer in this Belfast-set Beeb drama in which he stars alongside Gillian Anderson. In tonight's instalment, his character Spector drives Rose Stagg away from her home in the middle of the night and warns her that he knows she went to the police. Rose going missing only serves to step up Gibson's headache a notch – she knows the pressure is now on her, as she is forced to face facts that it was her words that tipped Spector off about Rose.

FRIDAY

Ben Fogle: New Lives in the Wild Channel 5, 9pm

New series. The return of the programme in which Ben Fogle meets people who have moved to inhospitable parts of the world after leaving the rat race behind. He begins by travelling to the Namibian desert to spend time with 50-year-old Gideon David, who quit his career in life insurance to live in the largest conservation area in Africa.

Cementing a reputation as the region's top property auctioneer

Packed auction rooms – regular sight for BJB, generating £43 million of sales in 2014

Steve Schwartz, BJB branch manager, Stafford office

Butters John Bee has put more than 900 properties under the hammer since January, Leading auctioneer butters john bee has sold almost £43 million worth of property so far this year, with its latest sale again attracting strong bidding.

Its ninth sale of the year earlier this month produced another strong night, with keen bidding both from those in the packed room at the Moat House hotel as well as buyers following the event online, pushing many of the lots way past their guide price.

Steve Schwartz, BJB branch manager of their Stafford office, said: "Our ninth auction of the year saw yet more great results, with many properties smashing their guide prices. With the 80 lots in Monday's catalogue, it means that BJB has put more than 900 properties under the hammer since January, and with more than 60 to be dealt with in next month's sale, the final one of the year, it cements the business's status as the leading property auctioneer in the region and the sixth largest in the country.

Steve added: "We have now sold almost £43,000,000 worth of property in 2014 alone.

"Including our forthcoming December sale, we have entered a fantastic 918 lots into our catalogues this year and remain the region's number one auctioneer. "There are 67 lots in our December sale and the catalogue is now available from our website or any of our 16 offices."

And there is expected to be no let up over the Christmas period, because the start of the year usually proves to be a very busy time for auction buyers and investors.

Steve said: "We are already taking entries for our January 19 sale. The early new year often proves to be a popular time to sell at auction, with 87 per cent of the lots selling in our last January sale.

"For anyone worried about having a vacant property through the winter who could enjoy the speed and security an auction sale offers, now is the time to contact us."

One-stop shop for house buying and selling needs

Ten years in the property business has ensured one Staffordshire solicitor and estate agent's position as a one-stop service for people considering a house move.

Initially set up by Chris Clark, in 1986 as Chris Clark Solicitors, the company has grown into Clark Solicitors & Estate Agents and the only firm in Stafford and Cannock to co-ordinate both sales and conveyance requirements all under one roof.

To cope with growing demand, offices were relocated from High Green to a town centre location on the modern High Green Court Development. Since 2004, the business has been operating under the Chris Clark Solicitors & Estate Agents brand with property marketing under the online site 'Right-move'.

Estate agent manager Martin Cunningham joined the firm as an estate agent in 2009 and has over 12 years experience in the industry. Further options available to clients include; conveyancing specialising in house sales and purchases; criminal law; Crown and Magistrates Court services; legal aid; police station representation; wills and probate.

There is also a free immigration advice surgery every Friday between 9.30am to 12.30pm with 20 minute appointments available.

Contact Martin Cunningham on 01543 573004 or call into the new office for further information.

Fabulous fun Fabia

By Ian Donaldson

Cars are becoming an extension of your smartphone, keeping you in touch with the world and, hopefully, on the right track for next to no money.

The new Skoda Fabia, on sale in the UK towards the end of January and a fresh take on a car loved by more than five million 'sensible' owners across Europe these past 15 years, is a fine example of the way new models let you live your motoring life as though you were sitting on the settee at home.

Except that this living room will move you in some comfort at the legal limit while your phone (loaded with the route before you left home) talks to you in an American accent and tells you which way to turn at the next junction.

Lots of other apps, as well as satellite navigation, can also be used on the clear touchscreen that features on the dash of the new Fabia.

And it really is a new Fabia, with a fresh look on the outside (more creases and dramatic folds than before) and an interior that stays as logically set out as ever (hurrah!) but with dash more style.

Shorter

It's a tiny bit shorter, wider and lower than before, with modest gains in the boot and passenger compartment; both features that were hardly lacking before, and which must have attracted lots of people to a car where simple sense was more important than mere style.

Revised, or new, petrol and diesel engines and useful weight savings (some versions now tip the scales at less than a tonne – rare in any car this size today) make the latest Fabia potentially more economical and promise lively performance, although not both at the same time.

Prices start at £10,600, a £630 increase, but Skoda says the new entry level Fabia comes with £740 worth of added kit, including a DAB radio, Bluetooth and heated and electrically-adjustable door mirrors.

Move up to SE spec cars, likely to be the big sellers in the range (with 1.0 litre and 1.2 litre petrol power) and you'll find the clear touchscreen that mirrors the applications on your smartphone.

That means instead of finding the extraordinary £1,200 needed for built-in satnav on the outgoing Fabia, and chosen by almost nobody, you can use a cheap-as-chips app on your phone.

Delight

The system had some way to go on the cars presented on the Fabia's press launch in Portugal, showing us parts of Lisbon not meant to be en route, but will surely be debugged soon.

The car itself was a delight to drive with the more powerful 1.2-litre petrol engine and larger alloy wheels on the top spec SE L car even hinting at a certain sportiness that may surprise the mainly more mature (50-plus) drivers who buy Fabias.

They'll love its eagerness and admire the way their cars stays refined and easy riding.

Driven with spirit the Fabia on test showed 43mpg on its nicely clear trip computer. A less powerful Fabia tried earlier, with 75 horses from its 1.0 litre engine, did only slightly better, while making heavier weather of both motorway and hilly side roads.

So pick a 1.2 litre model (they start at £13,390 in SE trim) and you will hit the sweet spot of a range that just got better.

Aston Martin Rapide is a dream drive

By Matt Joy

You don't have to be selfish to drive an Aston Martin; the beautiful Rapide S allows you to take three friends with you in four-door coupe style. For 2014 Aston has tweaked the looks and the mechanicals to make this a 200mph dream machine.

As with most Aston Martins, there is much about the Rapide S that is reassuringly familiar. The DB9-based exterior is as beautiful as ever, but is distinct from that car on account of the bullish nose as well as the extra pair of doors.

Of greater significance is the adoption of a new eight-speed automatic transmission which not only promises smoother shifts and the extra ratios but also a higher top speed; the Rapide S can now bust the 200mph barrier for the first time. The suspension has also been tweaked to improve the ride and handling and there are some new trim options too.

The Rapide S has the kind of looks to grab your attention whether you want it to or not; it has curves, grace and a swagger that is hard not to love, even if you're not the fortunate person behind the wheel.

The changes to the 2014 version only go as far as some new colour options – notably Diavolo Red which was previously only available on the limited edition Zagato – and new ten-spoke alloy wheels.

Practical

It might seem incongruous to think of an Aston Martin as being practical, but the Rapide S is designed to carry four people and their luggage. If you're sitting in the front then getting comfortable is a cinch, with plenty of adjustment in the seats and good space.

In the rear space it is a little tighter, but unless you scale over 6ft tall the rear seats are cosy and cocooning. The boot space is useful too, with the ability to fold the rear seats and increase the space.

The things that haven't changed about the Rapide S are still brilliant, chiefly the sensational 6.0-litre V12 engine, but the new gearbox allows you to get the best from it. In automatic mode the shifts are smoother and faster, so you can ooze around town just using the mighty torque. A firmer squeeze and the Rapide S accelerates with ease, while you can switch to manual control of the gearbox to fully exploit the huge power reserves.

The Rapide S also manages to handle like the sports car it is based on, despite being larger and heavier than the DB9. The steering is responsive but not too sharp, the ride controlled and the handling very reassuring for a car costing close to £150,000. It's a significant improvement on what was already excellent.

It's hard to make a case for the Rapide S being good value for money with a sticker price like that, but you certainly get a lot for your cash.

Those sensational looks, the magnificent engine, the cabin swathed in fine leather and a kick-ass Bang & Olufsen audio system.

This is a car for the wealthy, no doubt, and although the well-heeled do tend to be fussy about what they buy it's safe to say they will be impressed by the Rapide S.

A couple could use it as the ultimate GT with plenty of space for long weekends, while parents could complete the school run if they want to give their kids instant playground kudos.

This car summed up in a single word: Divine.

Small hatch that's big on power and sets the pace

By James Parker

The Ford Fiesta Zetec-S Red and Black Editions pack a 140PS punch from their tiny 1.0-litre engines.

Ford's Fiesta has been a hit when fitted with the 1.0-litre Ecoboost three-cylinder engine and these Zetec-S Black and Red Editions are the most extreme versions yet, with 140PS from the tiny three-pot.

They look racy, will hit 62mph in nine seconds and start at less than £15,000.

About 40 years ago, Ford built a 5.0-litre V8 version of the Mustang. Developing 140PS, it was tested by Road and Track magazine and recorded a speed to 60mph of 10.5 seconds, eventually running out of ideas at 106mph. The 'metric Mustang' as it was called, ditched the old cubic inch capacity labelling and switched to litres. These days Ford can do amazing things with a litre.

The Fiesta Zetec-S Black and Red Editions use 1.0 litres of cubic capacity to amazing effect, matching the 5.0-litre Mustang's power output, easily bettering its performance and handling and offering fuel economy that Ford engineers would once have thought pure fantasy.

You might well have seen the 80, 100 and 125PS versions of the Ecoboost 1.0-litre engines before, but Ford's engineers have tweaked the powerplant to offer up a few more ponies. Not only does the 140PS output make these Fiestas the most powerful 1.0-litre volume production cars ever but you also get more power per litre than in a Bugatti Veyron or a Lamborghini Aventador.

This results in some fairly crisp acceleration figures, the lightweight powerplant helping the Fiesta to 62mph in just nine seconds and topping out at 125mph. In fact, this engine delivers more than twice the specific output per litre than its predecessor – the 1.6-litre 100PS engine that powered the Fiesta S just 10 years ago.

Like all the Ecoboost engines, this one uses turbocharger to pump up the midrange torque, and the three-cylinder powerplant features twin-independent variable cam timing and high-pressure direct-injection technologies. The Red and Black Editions also get revised gear ratios for the five-speed manual transmission and a more focused suspension set-up.

Stiffer

In addition to new shock absorber and spring settings, the sport suspension uses a stiffer rear axle and revised tuning for the electronic power assisted steering system to deliver more detailed feedback through the wheel.

As the name suggests, the Zetec-S Red and Black Edition versions of the Fiesta come in very specific colour schemes.

These two-tone models are available in Race Red, complemented by Panther Black roof and detailing; or Panther Black, with Race Red roof and detailing. The three-door models feature front upper and lower grille surrounds, front bumper aerofoil and mirror caps in contrasting colours, with standard black 17in alloy wheels.

Inside, you'll find a black leather sports steering wheel and gear lever gaiter with red stitching, black floor mats with red stitching and charcoal black sport seats with contrasting red stitching and bolster exteriors. The rising beltline of the Fiesta in profile doesn't seem to bode well for the rear seat passengers in the three-door car but there's surprisingly decent legroom and headroom that's manageable even for a six-footer.

Prices start at around £16,000, which might seem quite a lot for a Fiesta with a 1.0-litre powerplant but this unit develops the same power output as the engine you'd get in a similarly-priced SEAT Ibiza 1.4 TSI and Ford has levered in quite a bit of kit as well. As well as the tuned suspension, revised steering, body styling parts and alloy wheels, you get equipment like stability control, anti-lock brakes, seven airbags, a Quickclear windscreen, a trip computer, a CD player with controls on the steering wheel, central locking and electric heated mirrors. The EasyFuel cap-less refuelling system is also very slick.

Obvious rivals include the SEAT and Suzuki's Swift Sport, which develops 136PS and is just over a grand cheaper.

Perhaps the biggest threat to this car is the fact that Ford's brilliant Fiesta ST – all 182PS of it – starts at just £17,250.

At the risk of sounding like a scratched record, it's worth bearing in mind that these tiny, high output engines never make anything like the promised fuel economy. Ford quotes a figure of 62.8mpg on the combined cycle, but should you average over 40mpg, you'll be doing fairly well. Emissions are rated at just 104g/km, which is a brilliant figure for what is ostensibly a performance hatch.

For all the carping about fuel economy, getting better than 40mpg from such a quick and capable petrol-engined car isn't all that bad. Residual values will reflect the fact that the Fiesta is a brilliant driver's car and one that needn't be expensive to fuel, tax or insure.

Yes, you're limited on colour and the black car with the red contrasts is only going to suit the more extrovert buyers but it's hard to think of anything more fun for fifteen grand.

Hot hatch is a crazy riot but look out for fireworks being lit up

By Matt Joy

Take one Fiat 500, add a crazy turbocharged engine, spicy bodykit and wait for the fireworks Fiat's evergreen 500 has been turned into a fire-breathing hot hatch before by legendary firm Abarth, but the latest version is now a permanent addition to the range. Available in semi-sensible Turismo or the 100 per cent barmy Competizione guise tested here, the Abarth 500 is not for the faint of heart.

There's a turbocharged 1.4-litre petrol unit up front that offers a healthy 158bhp but more significantly 170lb.ft of torque. The exterior wears a seriously tough bodykit and gorgeous alloy wheel options, while there's stiffer suspension and uprated brakes too. There's some interesting touches inside too, such as the attractive metal-topped gearlever.

It's hard not to love the Abarth 500's looks, even though from some angles it is almost comically pumped up.

From a rational point of view, it has the proportions of a roller-skate, with a short wheelbase, big wheels and a minimal ride height, but it just makes you want to get in and drive it.

Any notion that the standard 500 is a car 'just for girls' is dismissed in a flash when it's turned into an Abarth. Those in the know recognise the badge and those that don't are intrigued.

Don't forget that the Abarth is still a city car, however much its transformation has rendered it better suited to the open road.

Suited

So up front there is a respectable amount of space for adults but the driving position is better suited to those under six feet in height. In the rear it's kids or adults who are willing, rather than pure luxury.

This particular 595 had the optional leather bucket seats, which are terrifically supportive and look superb. In fact it's very easy to be carried away with the options list, especially when the end result is so much fun.

Drive the 595 in the manner it deserves and you'll revel in the gloriously torquey engine, the hilariously raucous exhaust note and the way in which it dives into bends with limitless enthusiasm.

It's a car that works best when you chuck it about rather than use a delicate hand. Do so and it's a complete riot, as well as remarkably quick.

Turn down the wick and it's a little more like hard work. The great handling comes from the stiff suspension which means bumps are

There's actually quite a bit of competition at this price level, and on the one hand the 595 Competizione is far from cheap.

However, it does come with a lot of kit too; items like Xenon headlights and the glorious exhaust system are all standard.

Go mad with the options list and you can break the £20k mark.

Who would buy one? If you can live with the ride quality then the urban girl about town, who wants a 500 more stylish than anyone else, would be very happy with the Abarth 595 – although they might prefer the Turismo model. The other ideal buyer for the 595 is anyone who wants a small weekend toy to blast away the cobwebs that can also be used in normal circumstances, at least some of the time.

This car summed up in one word: Unhinged

If this car was a cocktail: It would be banned immediately for being way too addictive

Long wait but well worth it

By Graham Breeze

Jaguar made us all wait for the arrival of the XF Sportbrake, but it was well worth it.

Sportbrake is simply a posh name for an estate car and this Jaguar goes head-to-head with Audi A6 Avant, BMW 5 Series Touring and Mercedes E-Class – the only company prepared to call their model an estate.

The Sportbrake is the first sports estate car to be produced by Jaguar in the XF range, building on the acclaimed saloon claiming increased versatility and practicality.

Jaguar expects a quarter of all XF's bought to be Sportbrakes in an all-diesel line up of which the 2.2 R-Sport on test is the pick of the bunch with matching looks and performance.

Designers have come up trumps by successfully integrating the extra estate bodywork into the good looking lines of the Jaguar and although the wheelbase is unchanged you get a longer roof, which adds to the quality look.

Inside you experience very little change from the impressive saloon model with plenty of blue lighting, the trademark rotary gear selector as well as leather trim across the range.

Answers

If it's space you want the XF Sportbrake has all the answers with 550 litres of boot space when the rear seats are upright and 1,675 litres with the rear seats folded flat. Pulling a couple of levers helps to reveal a 60/40 split rear bench.

If you need more space you are probably looking for a van.

Self-levelling rear air suspension is fitted as standard to keep things level when fully loaded, though that does mean you tend to feel every pothole you hit. The tailgate is electrically powered as standard on Luxury models and above.

‘Appealing proposition to company car drivers and fleet managers with all the benefits of driving a Jaguar.’

The entry-level 163bhp diesel on test was quick enough with 0-60mph in less than 10 seconds.

There's a top speed of 124mph and superb combined fuel consumption figures of 57.7mpg. CO2 emission figures are good too at 129g/km.

The Sportbrake is not for throwing around bends but instead is a refined performer, offering all the luxury you would expect from a brand.

The model on test came with an on-the-road price of £36,495 but extras which included a sunroof, cruise control, xenon headlights, a mirror pack, keyless entry, carpets and intelligent high beams, pushed the price up over the £40,000 mark.

You get plenty for your money though with LED lights, R-Sport badging, touch screen controls, rear parking camera, DAB radio, Bluetooth, stop/start system, a pedestrian contact sensor system, tyre pressure monitoring and much more.

The Sportbrake is an appealing proposition to company car drivers and fleet managers with all the benefits of driving a Jaguar along with greater fuel economy and reduced emissions.

New Audi TT – what a scorcher

By Matt Joy

The iconic Audi TT is still instantly recognisable despite the launch of the third generation model. It's been a massive success for Audi since making a first appearance back in 1998 and the company has no doubts that sales in the next 12 months will exceed all expectations.

The latest TT retains the aluminium and steel hybrid construction of previous models but this model is lighter, more efficient and faster than ever before. Offered in Sport, Quattro and S line trims there's a choice of 230bhp 2.0-litre TFSI petrol or 184 2.0-litre TDI Ultra diesel engines.

The petrol is offered with a six-speed manual gearbox matched to front-wheel drive or quattro all-wheel drive with S tronic dual-clutch transmission, while the Ultra diesel gets front-wheel drive with the manual gearbox.

Outwardly it's hard to notice many changes, probably the most significant being the distinctive Audi rings logo switching from the grill to the bonnet and sharper headlights in R8 style.

The wheelbase has been stretched by 37mm, and although it's slightly shorter and narrower you would never notice.

Cleverly Audi has increased boot space and with the seats folded the TT easily passes the golf club test – not many coupes come close to having that much space.

The TT really is a driver's car and the 2.0TFSI Quattro tested has steel low down in the chassis with good use of aluminium to keep weight down – 50kg lighter than the previous model.

The demanding Scottish mountains were the ideal location to test the Quattro to the limits, despite a year's worth of rain having fallen in the previous 24 hours and part of the planned route closed by a landslide.

Agility

It has electrifying pace, reaching 62mph in just 5.3seconds, maximum speed of 155mph, CO2 emissions of 149g/km and at 370Nm, the highest torque in class.

The revised quattro AWD drivetrain now offers even more agility and grip and it proved virtually impossible to produce any rear-end twitch or understeer even in such bad conditions.

Audi has become renowned for luxurious and inspired interiors and the TT has really stepped up to the mark, benefiting from the company's 'virtual cockpit' system with a 12.3in high-res display screen replacing the conventional dials.

Very sensible heating controls are now found on the vents themselves, reducing the need to go searching for switches and brilliant use of Google Maps gives the sat-nav system an air of high-tech quality.

All cars come with DAB radio, leather seats and climate control.

Audi's Drive Select system is standard across the range, too, and for the first time it adjusts the all-wheel drive system on quattro models, to give a sportier set-up in Dynamic mode.

It also allows you to set up your favourite mix of modes in the individual setting.

As you would expect from Audi safety kit comes in abundance, including a full-complement of airbags and Isofix. TFSI models come with active lane assist as standard and the options list includes blind spot warning, traffic sign recognition and Audi's Park Assist technology.

You know you are getting quality when you pick Audi so it's no surprise to find out that prices have gone up. The TFSI Quattro on test had an on-the-road price of £34,545 but when you add on the extras that quickly rose to £45,000.

It's only right to say that you can still put a TT on the road for less than £30,000 and it's also right that Audi's residual values are always better than the direct opposition.

You'll go a long way to find a car that's better equipped, more fun to drive or better to handle in sector than the new

Classic is now up to date

By John Griffiths

Remember those sounds of the Sixties? The Beatles, the Who, the Rolling Stones, Cream – and the cream of British motorcyles which ruled the roads.

There's little on today's roads, apart from an E-Type Jag perhaps, which is so evocative of that golden age of British transport as the Triumph Bonneville.

But nostalgia is at least in part about looking back through rose tinted spectacles (and I'm not just talking hippies) so sometimes we forget the downsides like awful drum brakes, lights measured in a handful of candlepower and oil leaks.

Thankfully, today's Triumph engineers lost the specs, rose tints and all, and created a new Bonneville which respects the 60s icon but is thoroughly modern, featuring such things as a bigger, fuel-injected engine and disc brakes to make it a thoroughly useable, enjoyable machine for the 21st Century.

The homage to two eras starts with the 865cc, overhead cam parallel twin-engine – original Bonnies were the same configuration but 650s, later enlarged to 750cc.

Look at the modern block and you'll see what appears to be a pair of carbs but in fact they conceal a thoroughly modern fuel-injection system and electronic ignition which is more efficient, improving throttle response while reducing fuel consumption and exhaust emissions.

And it starts more easily, too, with the press of a button and not a kick-start (which on old big bikes would occasionally kick you back).

The 2014 Bonnie retains the classic, chromed 'peashooter' style twin exhausts but they've been modified to produce a more authentic soundtrack.

It does hark back to the 60s and there's nothing else quite like it: a bass duet to accompany your journey with an occasional 'pop pop' chorus as you shut off the power. To me it has so much more character than modern four-cylinder or V-twin unit.

You also get disc brakes front and rear – only a single disc at the front but it performs competently for a bike of this weight and performance.

Heritage

Triumph calls the bike a classic and that's a good as description as any. It's not a sports or adventure bike and in other manufacturer's hands its nature could be described as a 'cruiser' but the Midlands company has a rich heritage of its own so, thankfully, didn't have to produce a Harley-Davidson lookalike.

Many riders will find the Bonnie's performance and handling better than some of that ilk, too. It has a gutsy 67bhp and 68Nm of torque from relatively low revs which means there's enough get up and go to feel a powerful tug on your arms as you press on up through the gears. Top (fifth) gear is set quite high, for quieter cruising and economy.

Top speed is estimated at 115mph, which is more than enough for a bike designed for British roads and not track days, and there's plenty of oomph.

TESTED

Triumph Bonneville T100

Engine: 865cc, air-cooled parallel twin with 67bhp and 68Nm of torque. Five-speed gearbox and chain final drive.

Economy: urban 51.2mpg; constant 56mph 68mpg; constant 75mph 55.6mpg (fuel tank 16 litres).

Warranty: Two years, unlimited mileage.

Insurance: Group 9 of 17.

Price: £7,599.

It's a naked bike, too, so wind pressure (and the constraints of the law) tends to restrict any temptation to press on for the magical 'ton up' of 60s bikers, and could be tiring on long motorway runs.

OK, you could no doubt find an after-market screen but quite honestly it would ruin the classic lines of the Bonnie which Triumph have worked so hard to preserve, and which is a compelling reason for buying one.

The test bike, a top of the range T100 with spoked chrome wheels, chrome crankcase and gearbox covers, a chrome chain guard and a colour scheme of fusion white with gold coach lines, certainly turned heads (including mine).

I found it a charismatic bike just to look at, as well as to ride on my 150-mile trip through Shropshire and Mid-Wales, the T100 growing on me as I explored its capabilities.

It averaged around 60mpg, so not an expensive day out either.

It's not a heavy bike and doesn't have (or in fact need) the big fat tyres you'd expect on a supersports machine, but its straight line stability is impressive and it tracks accurately through the corners too.

The suspension (telescopic forks at the front and twin, chromed spring shocks at the rear) cope well with rough b-roads, providing a reasonable balance between ride comfort and competent handling.

I found it inspired confidence and, like a dog owner is said to grow to look like their pet, the Bonneville shared some of its character with me which made for a relaxed, stress-free ride.

The traditionally-styled seat is flat rather than sculpted but rather well padded, while the high bars and well-placed controls allow for an upright riding position comfortable for longer rides. The extra padding is new, and certainly welcome for those of us heading for the hills, or the beach.

There's plenty of room for a pillion passenger, and the latest T100 now gets a sturdy chrome grab handle to add to their sense of security.

The basic Bonneville costs £6,799 while the T100 comes in at £7,599, with the extra buying you the traditional wire-spoked wheels and paint schemes, the distinctive engine and chain guard chrome features, and protective rubber gaiters covering the front suspension, plus large twin analogue dials (speedo and rev counter).

If you're not keen on all that chrome, there's a T100 Black option.

The Bonneville name comes from the famous salt flats in Utah where once Triumphs successfully challenged for world motorcycle speed records.

Modern Bonnies have been produced by today's Triumph company at Hinckley, Leicestershire, since 2001 and are sold all over the world, proving that it isn't just nostalgia and flying the flag for Britain's motorcycling heritage which have made it such a big seller.

It no doubt strikes a chord with those who appreciate such things, but it would hardly be so popular if Triumph hadn't created an excellent blend of classic styling with modern technology and capability.

It's relaxing, easy to ride and just as competent as a commuter, a tourer or simply your chosen steed for a Sunday run out in the country.

Focus the anger on Forest call

'HURT' Kenny Jackett has urged Wolves' players to 'get angry' to bounce back from their demolition at Derby.

The head coach spent an uncomfortable weekend poring over the video of the 5-0 drubbing at the i-Pro Stadium.

And he acknowledged his players will be judged on the pitch when they host Nottingham Forest after the international break.

"Actions speak louder than words and we have to be determined enough, angry enough and focused enough," said Jackett."

CK77 buckle down to come back at Belt

Cannock Chase Football League Premier League

CK77 came back from two goals down to nine-man Belt Road to win 5-2.

Man of the Match Dan Lomas scored a hat-trick for CK to leap frog the Belt who go bottom with CK climbing to fifth.

Dynamo Lab climb to sixth by beating Brereton Town 5-4. Chris Fowler bagged two and Aaron Wright went one better with a hat-trick.

Ridware Oak twice came from behind to beat leaders Huntington 3-2. Chris Deakin equalised the first time, then MoM James Russell equalised again and went on to score the winner for the Champions.

Football

Division One

Colliers Arms go top after beating Bar Sports 8-1. Both Jordan Taylor and Scott Sandland hit two apiece with Will Lushy, and Jim Barton adding a goal each.

Wryley Juniors thrashed Wheatstheaf 11-0. Left back Tom Dyer scored a hat-trick, Josh Bradley got two with Hayden Nash, Tom Kneller, Josh Rollason, Alex

Scott, Ashley Gun and Josh Griffiths adding a goal each.

Division Two

League Leaders White Lion smashed Cannock Social 10-1. Richard Tapper scored six, Mitch Preece two and a goal each for Shaun Hibberts and Scott Barrett.

Cannock Rangers won their local derby against Darlaston Green 2-1. Nick Knight set up Andy Talbot, before Chris Young on his debut, set up Andy Talbot for his second goal of the game to bag all three points.

Being 1-0 at half time Glassworks fought back with two goals to beat Solders 2-1. Nick Pascal levelled the scores with Andy Guy scoring the winner.

The Pied Piper beat Bridge Inn 3-2.

Six and Surbiton as Cannock suffer loss

Cannock 1 Surbiton 6

AFTER some even exchanges in the first half Cannock were eventually put to the sword in the NOW Pensions National hockey League, by second place Surbiton.

With chances missed a both ends Cannock were set to go in at half time, honours even. On 29 minutes the Cannock defence which presented Surbiton's Rupert Shipperley with the first of his two goals.

The second half began evenly, but once again Cannock lost Shipperley and he tucked away Surbiton's and his second which saw the visitors stamping their authority on the game.

Minutes later they found the net again which meant that Cannock were now three goals behind and Surbiton would strengthen their grip on the game while Cannock were never really able to close the gap.

However, the home side did show some resolve and their efforts were rewarded with a Pete Jackson penalty corner goal which went some way lift Cannock's spirits

Cannock continued to push the game in an attempt to narrow the gap but under the eye of the umpire Surbiton broke down play at every opportunity, leaving the home side frustrated and goalless.

This was despite further near misses for the home side by Nick Bandurak and Dave Harris.

The final nails in the coffin were delivered by Surbiton within a six minute time frame when the visitors then went on a goal spree and scored three goals to put them on top of the table and unfortunately subjected Cannock to their biggest defeat of the current season so far.

Cannock however, will now be looking to bounce straight back from low point when this weekend they will be travelling to Reading on Saturday and then they go on to play a home game against Truro in the Cup with the match starting at 2pm on Sunday.

In the Midlands Leagues the Cannock Seconds had much better fortune and continued their unbeaten run handing out a 13-1 demolition job of Warwick University.

The Thirds unfortunately followed in the footsteps of the first team and lost 0-4 to Loughborough Students.

The 4ths remain in second place with equal points to top place Birmingham Uni after a 5-1 win against Harbourne.

The 5ths beat Lichfield 4s 4-1; the 6ths lost 5-2 to Barford Tigers 4ths and the 7ths were defeated by Wolverhampton 4ths 4-2.

Berahino closer to lush deal

SAIDO BERAHINO has edged closer to a bumper Baggies deal as Jeremy Peace said he "hoped" his star striker would stay.

The 21-year-old hot-shot is the talk of the Premier League after becoming the top-scoring Englishman and being fast-tracked to Roy Hodgson's England squad.

Berahino's goals have triggered intense speculation about the striker's future, with Liverpool and Tottenham the latest to be linked.

However, Albion hope to tie down the forward to a new £30,000-a-week deal to ward off interest

Walsall kneeded a hero like Tom

Walsall 2 Shrewsbury 2
WHETHER they go in off his boot or knee, Tom Bradshaw just can't stop scoring. Just as well for Walsall, who were heading for a first home defeat to Shrewsbury Town since Mr Blobby topped the charts as well out of the FA Cup, before Mr Bradshaw netted his ninth of the campaign.

Only seconds of the 90 minutes remained when Paul Downing's shot, which looked to be heading well wide, deflected off the knee of Walsall's top scorer to completely wrong foot Shrews substitute stopper Mark Halstead.

It spelled joy for Bradshaw, who could celebrate a brace against his former club, and relief for the Saddlers, whose hopes of reaching the third round for the first time in seven years remain alive. First they'll have to get past the Shrews in a replay, which will be no easy task.

The visitors blustered into an early lead courtesy of Mark Ellis.

And after Bradshaw got the hosts level then came what appeared to be the winner from James Collins.

The striker looked like becoming the Shrews first match-winner at Walsall since Dean Spink, but Bradshaw had other ideas.

Jackett looks for a Plan B

KENNY JACKETT admits Wolves must come up with a Plan B after being 'found out' by the Championship big guns.

In Saturday's 5-0 demolition at Derby, the 2-1 defeat at Ipswich last Tuesday and the 0-0 draw against Birmingham, the opposition have pressed Wolves really high up the pitch and targeted double player of the year Kevin McDonald.

And head coach Jackett believes teams have started to work his side out in recent games.

"I think that's definitely happened to us tactically, and we haven't exploited the spaces in behind anywhere near enough," said Jackett.

"Sides have got on top of us high up the pitch. Look at Will Hughes on Saturday, he didn't leave Kevin McDonald alone - he was on him all of the time."

Scholars slip to a third straight league defeat

Richard Davies takes the congratulations

Goole 2 Chasetown 1

CHASETOWN'S match against Rushall on Tuesday night was postponed however, at the weekend the Scholars fell to their third straight league defeat in the Evo-Stik First Division South with two goals either side of half-time.

Chasetown took the lead with a well-worked goal which saw Richard Davies in acres of space to slot home from 12 yards out - his first league goal since his return.

At the other end, Chasetown looked largely in control, with skipper Chris Slater becoming the fourth man in Scholars' history to reach 350 league games. However, a minute either side of the interval saw the game turned on its head. Chasetown had tried a counter-attack after a Goole corner, but Nick Wellescombe's flick to try and instigate the quick break fell to a Goole player instead.

The home side advanced and Billy Law picked his spot with a low shot placed into the bottom corner. Goole even had time to have the ball in the net before half-time, but the referee disallowed the effort for a foul. Immediately after the interval, Goole found themselves with three strikers against two Chasetown defenders but Andy Gascoigne went alone and fired a shot home.

Chasetown did have two glorious chances to equalise. First, Leon Miles headed straight at keeper Peter Fotko and then, in the final minutes, Nathan Waite was through but couldn't get the ball under control to get a shot away.

Goole perhaps looked more likely to add to the scoreline, although Chasetown did have two glorious chances to equalise.

No need to panic, Ricketts

CAPTAIN Sam Ricketts has told Wolves not to panic in the wake of their demolition Derby.

Saturday's 5-0 humiliation by the Rams was Wolves' biggest away loss at second tier level for more than 31 years, since a five-goal defeat at Leicester in February 1983.

Defeat was the second in a week for Kenny Jackett's side after the 2-1 reverse at Ipswich and made it one point from nine.

But it was the first time in 11 months they have lost back-to-back league games.

And Ricketts, who was recalled for only his second league start of the season at the i-Pro Stadium, believes there is no need to hit the panic button.

"There's nothing to worry about long term - this was one game and three points lost," said the 33-year-old. "Derby got beaten last season by a good few goals and look at them. There's no reason why we can't learn from this and push on again."

"I remember Manchester United getting beaten 5-0 at Chelsea (1999) - these things happen."

"It's not the end of the world."

Wembley pitch won't be perfect

WEMBLEY managing director Roger Maslin says the national stadium's pitch will "not be of the very highest standard" when England host Slovenia on Saturday.

Maslin said: "While the pitch will not be of the very highest standard we want for the Slovenia game, it will still be a good surface."

PITMEN PICK UP A POINT IN DRAW

Hednesford Town 1 Barrow 1

HEDNESFORD Town were able to pick up a deserved point against league leaders Barrow.

The game at Keys Park turned out to be an exciting affair for supporters and neutrals alike. Rob Smith's side were more than worthy of the scoreline.

Had it been for a bit more luck in front of goal then the Pitmen could have taken all three points.

Despite being played on somewhat of a sticky pitch, following a prolonged spell of heavy rain in the build-up to the fixture, both sides tried to attack from the outset.

In the fifth minute Hednesford's Darren Campion saw a cross-come-shot easily saved by Tony McMillian, before the goalkeeper had to react quickly to a short back header with Steve Diggin lurking.

Mercy

Meanwhile at the other end Andy Cook should really have scored from six-yards out in the 12th minute, but he headed over the bar with the goal at his mercy.

In a lively opening 20 minutes Town's Glenn Walker went close to opening the scoring in the 17th minute as he cut inside and fizzed an effort over the bar with his wrong foot.

Just after the half hour mark Richard Batchelor stung the palms of McMillian whilst in the 38th minute Andy Burns was left prone following a late challenge by Jamey Osborne. The midfielder was cautioned, adding to the four other players receiving yellow card in a feisty first half.

Five minutes into the second period the away side took the lead when Hednesford failed to clear their lines and Jason Walker nipped in to prod home.

Town didn't let this deter them and came back at the visitors hard, with Walker and Batchelor both seeing goalbound efforts scrambled away from inside the Barrow area.

Hednesford goalkeeper Dan Crane still had to stay sharp at the other end though with him having to make a fine save from Barrow's Johnny Gorman in the 58th minute.

Hednesford continued to press and got their equaliser three minutes later. A lovely cushioned header fell into the path of Steve Diggin and after his first time shot rattled the crossbar Danny Glover was on hand to loop his header into the net.

Despite some late pressure neither side could force a winner though with both sets of supporters going home happy with a point a piece.

Danny Glover scores the equaliser by converting a rebound off the crossbar for The Pitmen
